Control Demand Renewed

Britain, France Put Stop to Optimism Caused by Earlier Principle Agreement

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Oct. 13 (AP)—Britain and France today renewed their demand for international control of the Suez Canal. The Soviet Union and Egypt were reported firmly opposed to it.

This development came as Britain and France, with the backing of the United States, introduced in an extraordinary session of the Security Council a resolution calling for Council endorsement of the decisions of 18 powers in London for a Suez settlement.

These decisions envision international control of the waterway and have been repeated weeks ago by the Soviet Union and Egypt.

The British-French proposal drew pessimistic comments from many delegates who had become hopeful of progress on the basis of an agreement yesterday on six principles for a settlement. Some delegates said the new move likely would torpedo the whole fragile structure worked out during the past week.

The six principles were agreed upon by Britain, France and Egypt in secret talks with U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld.

The resolution called on Egypt to make promptly its own proposals for a settlement and finally said that pending the conclusion of an agreement the Suez Canal Users Assn. and Egyptian authorities should cooperate to make certain the satisfactory operation of the canal.

The council finally convened at 4:41 p.m.

Will Present Hi-Fi System At Library

Presentation of the new high-fidelity music system will highlight an open house to be held at the Sedalia public library Wednesday evening at 7:30.

Jack Shoemaker, president of Kiwanis, will make the presentation. The Kiwanis Club was responsible for buying and installing the high-fidelity equipment to be used in the Listening Room. The library board will accept the gift formally, and the program will be turned over to the chairman of the music committee of Kiwanis, William Ward, who will present other members of his committee, Albert Wueffling, Joe Allen, Abe Rosenthal and Russell Maag.

A demonstration of the equipment will be held in the library auditorium, the listening room itself being too small to accommodate all who may be interested in hearing it.

Charles Messerly, president of the board of directors of the library, emphasized that the public is cordially invited to inspect all the public rooms of the library.

Repairs to the foundations of the library building were completed some time ago, and since that time the interior has been completely redecorated in modern light colors. New beige linoleum has been laid, and excellent new fluorescent lighting installed.

The Listening Room, which is in the basement, has been furnished with easy chairs for listening comfort. A supply of high fidelity recordings has been ordered, and the room will be open for public use after its formal presentation on Wednesday evening.

Yugoslavia Will Get Aid Despite Secrecy

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration has decided that Communist Yugoslavia remains independent of Moscow control and should continue to receive United States aid in spite of the deep secrecy that still surrounds President Tito's recent meetings with Soviet leaders.

All the Symptoms

You can tell that an area is overly dry when everyone comes to the window or door to watch with disbelief a simple shower of rain, as Sedalians did yesterday morning.

CENTRAL MISSOURI—Partly cloudy today with scattered showers possible in forenoon; partly cloudy and cooler tonight and Monday; high today in upper 70's.

The temperature one year ago today high 67, low 39; two years ago, high 75, low 49, with .98 inch of rain; and three years ago, high 83, low 52.

SCHOOL AT HOME—Mrs. Mary Schoenheit, shown with her seven-year-old daughter, Mary, in their Centertown, Mo., home, is standing firm in her refusal to let the girl attend public schools which she says turns out "trained seals." A former teacher, Mrs. Schoenheit maintains she is complying with state law by tutoring her daughter at home in study course she says is equal to what she would get in public schools. However, she is faced with a threat of prosecution because she allegedly does not have a Missouri teacher's certificate. (NEA Telephoto).

Second Case Of School Balk Develops

Teacher in Morgan County Thinks Harm Will Befall Daughter

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A second Missouri defiance of public school laws broke into the open today as a high school teacher continued his refusal to send his 7-year-old daughter to school in Morgan County.

The Morgan County school superintendent, Moss McDonald, said William Cheney has refused to let his daughter, Steffanie, go to public school because he has an "unsubstantiated fear." Steffanie may get hurt on the school grounds. The county sheriff, Corrie Wood, said Cheney thinks it's dangerous for his daughter to play around a storm cave on the school grounds and has argued that the teacher at the nearby school doesn't watch the youngsters on the playground.

McDonald said Steffanie attended school last year, was not hurt and made a good record as a first grader.

He said he believed Cheney is obligated by law to let the child attend school at least until a court rules that he is providing "substantially" equivalent instruction at home. The sheriff said he hopes to get Cheney in for a discussion with Circuit Judge Claude E. Curtis the first of next week.

Cheney lives in a rural area some four miles west of Eldon, Mo., just inside Morgan County. He is teaching English in the Eldon High School for the second year but came originally from Maine. He has said his wife is a former teacher and both are capable of giving the child adequate instruction.

Just a few miles to the north, Mrs. Mary L. Schoenheit of Centertown, Mo., is standing fast in her quarrel with the Monticau County school board. A former school teacher, also, she argues that public schools just turn out "trained seals" and she can do a better job of instructing her 7-year-old daughter, Mary, at home.

Sedalia Choral Club Will Sing Before Talk by Lem T. Jones

Preceding the Thursday night dinner meeting of the Sedalia Church Men's Group at Smith-Cotton Cafeteria, the Sedalia Choral Club will sing.

In order that ample time be allowed for a full program of Choral Club, music, the dinner, and featured speaker Lem T. Jones, of Kansas City Missouri, the affair will start promptly at 7 p.m.

Several Sedalians who have heard Lem Jones speak at meetings in other cities may want to hear him again. They are urged to contact the ticket committee at once because no tickets will be sold after Monday evening in order that reservations may be completed with the Cafeteria by that time.

The men's fellowship groups of most Sedalia churches will have tickets available Sunday, but tickets may also be obtained Monday from members of the ticket committee, of which Abe Silverman is chairman.

'Fresh' Issues Declared

Both Adlai and Ike Speak of What They Insist Are Different Points to Consider

(By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS) President Eisenhower came up with a "real" issue this past week. So did Adlai Stevenson, only he called his a "central" one.

Eisenhower said he is a sound dollar man and the Republicans are a free enterprise party, but the Democrats believe in big government horning in on the affairs of the people.

Stevenson said the Democrats are interested in the needs of the people, whereas the Republicans reserve their special attention for the rich and well-born.

Here's the way Eisenhower put it:

"Instead of trying to release to guide and help the great and illimitable results you get from a free people doing these things, they (the Democrats) want to guide and direct."

"And they are not concerned particularly with the sound dollar because they talk about raising expenditures, cutting taxes, and that means, as I see it, deficit financing."

"And you can not continue to spend on a deficit basis without hurting your dollar."

"So I think that in those things we are—you have got a real issue. How do we manage America's international affairs?"

Stevenson had this to say:

"One of the central issues that has emerged is that we realize now how much, in the short space of four years, the government has shifted from the people to a single interest...."

"His administration is made up almost entirely of men who represent a single set of interests. They know what they want and they get it...."

"I say it is high time that we start asking again what the Joe Smiths want; that we try to see that they get it...."

This week's discussion of the issues also produced Eisenhower's statement that "I have said my last words" with regard to Stevenson's suggestions that a way be found to stop testing hydrogen bombs and to stop drafting men for the military.

County Townships Pick Their Directors On Extension Council

Elections have been held in all townships of Pettis County the past week to select a township director to serve on the Agricultural Extension Council for the next two years. This council was set up by a recent state legislature to sponsor Agricultural Extension work in the state. Extension work takes in the work of the county farm agent and county home agent and includes 4-H work, home economics club work, soil testing and so on.

A year ago elections were held to elect two directors in each township, one for a 2 year term and one for one year. The one year term holder was eligible for re-election this year.

The directors elected the past week include: Blackwater, Mrs. James Meyers; Bowling Green, Earl Wood; Cedar, Mrs. John Silsby; Dresden, C. E. Ferguson; Elk Fork, Mrs. Lowell Frazier; Flat Creek, Robert Welliver; Green Ridge, Mrs. Floyd Egbert; Heath Creek, Carl Raines; Houstonia, Mrs. John Tolson; Hughesville, W. P. Nicholson; Lake Creek, Mrs. Rudy Rehmer; LaMonte, Paul Chevalier; Longwood, Mrs. Paul Stephens; Prairie, Paul Neitzert; Sedalia, Mrs. G. Ernest Stevens; Smithton, Paul Selken for the two year term and Mrs. O. R. Demand for one year to fill a vacancy; and Washington, Mrs. Sherman Pritchard.

Special Guest Is 103-Year-Old Woman—

Central Missouri Republicans Have Party Honoring President Eisenhower's Birthday

Republicans of Central Missouri celebrated President Dwight Eisenhower's birthday with a party held in the Smith-Cotton High School cafeteria Friday night. The affair was sponsored by the Citizens for Eisenhower Committee of Pettis County and was attended by approximately 500 persons.

One of the highlights of the party was the introduction of 103-year-old Mrs. Nancy Boles. Gooch Mill, Mo., southeast of Boonville, in Cooper County. Mrs. L. C. Davis, Boonville, state co-chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower, presented Mrs. Boles. Mrs. Boles is believed to be the oldest Republican in Central Missouri.

Thinks Mental Care Program Needs Change

Lon Hocker Claims Democrats Neglected Rehabilitation Plan

MEXICO, Mo., Oct. 13 (AP)—Lon Hocker, Republican candidate for governor, said today Missouri needs a "revolution" in the care of its mentally ill and retarded children.

Hocker, in a speech prepared for delivery before the Ninth District Federation of Women's Republican Clubs of Missouri, said that during the past 12 years of Democratic rule, Missouri's mental health program suffered from lack of "broad programs of treatment and rehabilitation."

The St. Louis lawyer said it was the duty of the governor's office to "take active leadership in rehabilitating" the state's mental hospitals.

"Missouri's constitution makes its governors among the most powerful of all the states' governors," the candidate said, "but we have not, in the 11 years we have had that new constitution, had a governor willing to exert his powers for the benefit of mental institutions."

"In the field of mental illness and mental retardation, we must hang our heads in shame...."

Hocker attacked then Gov. Forrest Smith's 1949 appointment of B. E. Ragland as director of the division of mental diseases.

"Ragland has stood for pinhead, merely custodial handling of mental patients, against a rehabilitation program which would cost more at the present but promises to cost less in the long run."

Hocker said that if he were elected he would form a governor's citizens commission on mental illness and mental retardation to make recommendations for action by the governor and the Legislature.

Hocker suggested a program of mental illness research to be financed by payments to the state by the patients' families.

Warrensburg Man Gets Trooper Assignment

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 13 (AP)—Eight new state patrol troopers were sworn in today and assigned to jobs. Patrol Superintendent Hugh H. Waggoner announced.

The eight bring uniformed strength up to the maximum of 355 officers and men. Among the new men is Trooper Robert W. Schmer, 25, of Warrensburg, assigned to troop F, Jefferson City.

Ike Will Give Sign To Build Merchant Ship Powered by Atom

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower on Monday will give the go ahead for construction of a nuclear powered merchant ship, which Congress authorized at the last session.

A White House ceremony has been set for 10 a.m.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the atomic powered ship is expected to be completed in about three years. He said it will demonstrate how a ship can be powered by nuclear energy to serve the purpose of peace.

Ike's Birthday Is Celebrated Across Nation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower was saluted by Republicans and other admirers throughout the nation today on the eve of his 66th birthday.

The national "Ike day" committee had announced plans for what it called "One of the most rousing 'happy birthdays' ever offered a president of the United States," with rallies at football games, street fairs, parades and evening TV parties.

Climaxing the celebration was a half-hour radio-television show over the CBS-TV and ABC radio networks on which the President was to speak briefly and "non-politically."

In Washington the observance was marked by a parade in the White House area of floats depicting various phases in Eisenhower's life. The floats and bands provided by Eisenhower supporters in local schools and colleges.

Eisenhower observed his anniversary a day early because it falls on Sunday this year. He began the day by receiving a 7 by 8 foot birthday card from Naugatuck, Conn. It was presented by 9-year-old Joseph P. (Jay) Donahue Jr., who won a contest sponsored by the Naugatuck Citizens for Eisenhower.

Young Boy Bites Dog But Gets Bitten Back

FORT LEE, N. J., Oct. 13 (AP)—The textbook example of what makes news was demonstrated here today by a 3-year-old boy: He bit a dog's tail.

The dog, Lady, proved a believer in Biblical justice—returning a bite for a bite.

Little Garry Remore was treated for dog bite above his right eye. Garry didn't treat the dog like a lady deserves but he showed himself to be a gentleman—he admitted starting the biting.

Boonville's Route Request Is Rejected

Highway Officials Will Not Relocate US 40 Into City

A letter received by Hampton Tisdale and Earl Powell, co-chairmen of the Boonville Chamber of Commerce special highway committee, from Rex M. Whitton, chief engineer of the State Highway department, advised that a motion to adopt Boonville's request for the U. S. Highway 40 location had failed of passage when presented to the State Highway Commission.

The letter also stated that Whitton had recommended to the commission that it not change the location.

A delegation of 100 persons, along with 2,000 signed petitions, had protested the highway department's proposed location of U. S. 40, in August. The delegation appeared before the commission at that time asking that the highway be moved closer to Boonville, feeling that, from an economic standpoint, Boonville would suffer less than at the location outlined by the highway department.

The State Highway commission met on Oct. 9, in Jefferson City, and the Boonville matter was decided at that time. It is reported that A. D. Sappington, of Columbia, a member of the commission, made a motion to relocate the road in accordance with Boonville's request, and that W. M. Robertson, Joplin commissioner, seconded the motion. The other two members of the commission, Harris D. Rodgers, of Benton, and J. G. Morgan, of Unionville, are reported to have voted against. Thomas Beveridge, of Rolla, ex-officio member, does not vote.

The reported split vote within the commission, where a three to one vote is necessary for approval or rejection, prevented Boonville request from passage.

The adverse decision came after many meetings and trips by the special Chamber committee, working in the economic interests of this city. The city council of Boonville, the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis Clubs, Chamber membership and others, representing a majority of local citizens, all had signed petitions or made resolutions requesting the highway change.

Members of the special highway committee stated "we consider the adverse decision to be a direct slap in the face for the people of this community, with total disregard for the economy of the community."

The committee considering the decision, to discuss further plans.

Red China Lodges Protest Against Hong Kong Riots

Peiping Radio Broadcast Says Premier Charges Britain Failed To Take Steps to Stop Violence

HONG KONG, Oct. 13 (AP)—Communist China lodged a strong protest with Britain today against three days of rioting in the crown colony of Hong Kong.

A Peiping radio broadcast said Premier Chou En-lai summoned the British charge d'affaires in Peiping and expressed indignation over "cold-blooded murders and looting perpetrated by Kuomintang — Chinese Nationalist — agents."

Peiping said Chou protested the "failure so far of British authorities to adopt effective measures to stop the violence."

The rioting at Kowloon, blamed on Chinese refugees from Communist rule and gangsters, has clouded the future of this British crown colony.

Chou demanded that British authorities in Hong Kong immediately take measure to punish the offenders and protect the Chinese in Hong Kong and Kowloon. He demanded a reply from the British.

Red China reacted with violent words to the shock of finding that pro-nationalist, anti-Communist sentiment is deep and widespread among nearly a million Chinese living just across its border under the Union Jack.

Men with long China experience say the Communists—always sensitive to real or fancied threats to their security—see the ghost of counter-revolution raising its head in this week's Hong Kong disorders which left 45 persons dead and 358 injured.

The Peiping press, which reflects the official party line, has wasted no time spelling it out.

"Hong Kong and Kowloon—the mainland portion of the colony—have for a long time been an asylum for Kuomintang nationalist agents and have, moreover, been used as a base against the Chinese people and peace," today's Kwang-ming daily said.

The Peiping Daily Worker accused the British authorities of "connivance and tolerance" of nationalist spies and saboteurs.

So far there have been no indication the Communists would seek to use the riots as a lever to pry Hong Kong from Britain. But continued pressure on Britain to eradicate what the Reds call the nationalist underground could lead to grave trouble.

If the colony's governor, Sir Alexander Grantham, cracks down on the nationalists as the Communists demand, he runs the risk

Demos Hear Talk Friday By Wisdom

In a meeting of the Democratic Party at the Hughesville Consolidated High School Friday, after the introduction of the candidates by John McCloskey, Democratic county chairman, the principal address was given by W. W. Wisdom, candidate for the state senate from this district.

Wisdom told his audience that if elected, he proposed to represent the entire district to the best of his ability. Said Wisdom, "I will designate a person in each county to be my personal representative and present their problems. I want to know what is going on in my district and I want to serve all of the people as best I can."

"I sincerely believe," said the speaker, "that much can be done to reduce the red tape that is found in dealing with old age pensions, and other problems of those who are in real need, and if elected, I will do all in my power to get legislation towards that end."

"I believe," said Wisdom "that you here in Pettis County have an excellent ticket, and I feel certain that on November 6 we will elect these good men and we will likewise elect our state ticket all the way."

"I feel it is the job of a state senator to be guardian of the rights of the people of his district, and at the same time represent the state as a whole. I will not turn a deaf ear to your pleas for assistance but will do all that I can to honestly and truly represent you. I appeal to all voters in this district for support and I promise to deal with all legislation fairly and impartially."

Following the meeting refreshments were served in the cafeteria. The meeting was under the direction of Committeeman David Powell and Committeewoman Mattie Fowler.

Spiz Club Aid For Dystrophy Is Promised

Will Call at Homes After School Hours During City Drive

The Smith-Cotton Spiz Club girls will again this year march for muscular dystrophy in the drive for funds needed for research, which will be held Oct. 29 through Nov. 3. Calls will be made during this period in the daytime, some at night, and the young people will call at homes after school hours.

The second and third precincts of Ward 3, of which Mrs. A. J. Gregory is captain, have their organization complete. The workers will be Mrs. Orie McKinney, Mrs. W. A. Morgan, Mrs. Thomas Gardner, Mrs. Herman Kettle, Mrs. Monty McQuitty, Mrs. Berniece Glascock, Mrs. Della Furner, Mrs. J. A. Larson, Mrs. Della Stuart, Mrs. Emma Kizirizis, Mrs. S. F. Swearingin, Mrs. Jess Brown, Mrs. Frank Kerswell, Mrs. Mildred Glenn, Mrs. Charles Wooster, Mrs. Noel Trout and Mrs. Myron Griswold.

Workers will go in their own neighborhoods and will have badges to identify themselves.

Dr. D. C. Proctor is general chairman of the drive, with Frank Sloan as chairman of the local firemen, who will again work this year.

A mouse named Funnyfoot recently attracted national attention to an aspect of the continuing campaign being waged by the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, Inc., against the muscle-wasting disease which afflicts more than 200,000 Americans.

Named for his peculiar walk, Funnyfoot is one of the strain of mice inbred since 1951 when research workers discovered a mouse to be suffering from an inherited disorder closely resembling muscular dystrophy in humans, probably the first recorded instance in animal research of such an inherited muscular involvement.

The importance of the discovery was hailed by the MDAA medical advisory board of which the chairman is Dr. Ade T. Milhorat. MDAA immediately provided a $50,000 grant to further develop the mouse strain as a source of experimental animals through which research scientists may learn more about the disease in children and adults.

The dystrophic mice will almost certainly become a basic tool in a new muscle research center, the most significant projects undertaken to date by MDAA.

This muscle research center, to be constructed and equipped at an estimated cost of three million dollars, will be affiliated with the New York Hospital Cornell Medical Center. A site has already been purchased and construction will get underway in the near future.

This is in addition to the 70 or more grants given to the universities and hospitals in the United States and abroad.

DeMolay Sings Across Nation. Will Begin Here

The "DeMolay Sing" will be open to the public and there will be no charge.

The sing will be patterned after the old time song festivals, and will be interspersed with special numbers by outstanding entertainers from over the state.

When Frank S. Land, founder and secretary general of the International Supreme Council, Order of DeMolay, asked R. This big event will be DeMolay on Parade.

Highway Patrol Issues Challenge To Missourians

The Missouri Highway Patrol today hurled a stiff challenge to Missouri drivers. The Patrol asked drivers to work for a 25 per cent reduction in fatalities through the balance of this year.

Patrol Chief Hugh H. Waggoner said, "The most tragic element of Missouri's problem is not its size, but the complacent attitude with which most drivers regard it. Our highway death problem affects everyone in the state and must be accepted by each driver as a personal responsibility."

The plea to drivers for a year end 25 per cent reduction in fatalities is the last remaining hope for preventing an all-time high Missouri death count this year. Although the current count is running only six per cent above last year's, it is vital that a sizeable reduction in deaths be accomplished during the dangerous months of October, November and December. These three months last year accounted for the death of 328 persons. Last year's total highway death count reached 1,071. So far during October, a 30 per cent reduction in fatalities has been accomplished.

"This proves," said Waggoner, "that safe driving can be a reality instead of just a slogan. All that's required is for drivers to think as they drive, instead of driving as they think."

Take Steps To Safeguard Mailed Plants

Postmaster Maurice Hogan advised Sedalia home gardeners today that for the safest delivery of their shrubbery and plants during the current planting season, they should take certain steps to aid deliverymen.

"We have been informed by the Gardening Council of New York that this is the shipping season for nursery stock orders," he said. "Much of the stock is perishable, and without the cooperation of the purchasers, and delivering agencies, best results cannot be expected."

Hogan said there were three steps that purchasers of nursery stock should take:

1. If away or on vacation, make arrangements to have a neighbor accept shipments. Keep moist and in a cool location until planting time. Otherwise, the plants may deteriorate in storage at the post office, express, or freight station while awaiting delivery.

2. If a neighbor cannot accept delivery, contact the post office or transportation agent, and leave instructions as to where the plants can be delivered. A cool basement, garage, or shaded porch is always better than a mail room or on-hand department for dormant plants and nursery stock.

3. Best of all, if you are home, have the ground well prepared, and make your planting as soon as possible after delivery. Early planting, liberal watering, and following the sender's instructions will insure best growth of all plant materials.

New streets opened in Seymour, Conn., are all named for the birds, such as Chickadee Lane, Robin Road and Whippoorwill Drive.

Movie Firms Show Panic For Future

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — The movie industry is in a puzzling mood. There is still panic for the future despite the finest crop of box office "blockbusters" in years.

Previewers have been dazzled in the past three weeks with a bright array of biggies: "Giant," "Teahouse of the August Moon," "The Friendly Persuasion," "Tea and Sympathy" and the colossal "The 10 Commandments."

Here is what the industry is faced with:

1. While the hit pictures like "Trapeze" and "The King and I" are doing tremendous business, movies that are merely good are not paying off.

2. Production costs have continued to rise. Some of the "blockbusters" are so frightfully expensive that their take is curtailed.

3. Film companies have made millions by selling their backlogs to TV. But that is only a stop-gap; they still must stand or fall on theater business alone.

4. Despite efforts to curtail it, studio overhead is still a major barrier to profitable operation.

Last week a radical proposal was revealed. Warner Brothers and 20th Century-Fox are discussing plans to merge their studio operations on the Warner lot in Burbank.

The merger would be a financial boon to Fox. The studio sits on the largest hunk of land in the lush residential and business area of Los Angeles. The land value alone has been estimated at 20 millions.

There is a rich oil pool below it. Liquidating these assets would place the company in a highly solvent position.

The advantage to both studios would be great, since the cost of their physical operations would be virtually cut in half.

If the Warners-Fox plan works out, others may follow suit. Some observers estimate in five years there will be half as many studios in Hollywood with no loss of production.

Ten U. S. colleges have been designated by the Air Force ROTC to train co-eds as Air Force women officers.

Storekeeper At MKT Shops Ends Career

William Bert Robertson, or "Bert" as he is familiarly known among his many friends, ended his career as storekeeper at the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad as of Oct. 1.

Along with the announcement of the intention to sell the Katy shops in Sedalia to some other industry, there was also an order to abolish several jobs there, which included the stores department.

Robertson has been storekeeper at the Katy shops for 19 years and an employee of the railroad 39 years.

He was born and reared in Sedalia, the son of the late Fred and Estella Robertson. Other than five years spent in Virginia, he has lived most of his life here. During his stay in Norfolk, Va., he was employed by the Virginia Railroad as an accountant.

His local career with the railroad started on Feb. 13, 1918, as a material checker and invoice clerk. He spent a year in the service and returned to work here in 1919 as stock book clerk, which position he held until 1937, when he was appointed storekeeper.

Mr. and Mrs. Robertson reside at 1206 West Sixth. They have two children, Dorothea Long, of Lee's Summit, and Fred Robertson, a directory representative of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. with headquarters in Kansas City.

Robertson is a Mason, active member of the Lions Club and a member of the First Christian Church. The Robertsons plan to spend some time fishing in the Ozarks. Future plans are indefinite.

The yearbooks were judged by Fred C. Robins, director of publications and student publications at the University of Missouri.

Hubbard Happenings—

Janie McFerrin Is Elected As 1956 Homecoming Queen

The first grade and a part of the second grade took "A Trip to the Farm" by bus as part of their classroom activities. They visited the beautiful farm of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Dyne. After their return to school they drew what they had seen. These classes plan to visit the zoo in the spring. Teachers for these classes are Miss G. Jones and Mrs. G. Shepard.

The Senior class presented a chapel program Friday morning entitled, "Truth or Consequence." Clarence Jones was quiz master, and the announcer was George Williams. Devotional exercises were led by Elmer Johnson. The consequences were dances, acts, poems and songs.

The election for "Miss Homecoming of '56" was held last week at Hubbard School. The candidates were: eighth grade, Sandra Christian; ninth grade, Kathryn Moody; tenth grade, Bessie Taylor; 11th grade, Josephine Smith; and 12th grade, Janie McFerrin.

The winner was Janie McFerrin, who will reign as "Miss Homecoming" next Friday night when Hubbard meets the Missouri School for the Deaf, Fulton.

Her attendants are Kathryn Moody and Josephine Smith. The girls were selected by popular vote of the student body. The election was conducted by the Student Council.

PARATROOPER—Pvt. Steven Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Walker, Sedalia, who enlisted in the paratroopers, is now stationed with the Fourth Armored Division at Fort Hood, Tex.

Great Dane Switches His Political View

PHILADELPHIA — A great dane has been doing some politicking against his master. The dog, Hamlet by name, belongs to Joseph S. Clark, Democratic candidate for the U.S. Senate. He wanders around Chestnut Hill, exclusive Philadelphia residential section, quite a bit. The other day he came home from his meanderings with an "I Like Ike" button pinned to his collar.

He Tried to Get Back

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — William A. Brewer, 18, was cited last week for driving 40 m.p.h. in a 30 m.p.h. zone being checked by radar. Yesterday, officers working in the same spot caught only four motorists in 55 minutes, far below average.

Looking around the corner, they found Brewer holding up a sign proclaiming: "Look Out—Radar." Brewer was charged with disorderly conduct.

Skunk Puts Kibosh On Bar's Business

LOS ANGELES — Customers at Woody Trigg's bar looked up from their drinks and saw a skunk standing in the doorway.

"All you could hear were the ice cubes rattling in the glasses," Trigg said.

The 19 customers left hurriedly while Trigg and waitress Ruby Day, after an odorous chase, finally trapped the skunk in a rest room.

Authorities who carted the little rascal off to the animal shelter explained that it apparently strolled in from a park across the street.

End of Gobel Show Option Doesn't Hurt

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — George Gobel has started his third TV season, but without the services of Peggy King, Pretty, perky Peggy is shedding no tears about it, however.

"Don't get me wrong," the blonde singer cautioned. "I love George. There never has been a wrong word between us."

"It does seem to me a mistake to break up a winning combination," she said. She referred to the fact that she, Jeff Donnell, director Bud Yorkin and, most importantly, producer Hal Kanter, have not been renewed for the new season.

In the past week, she added, at least 100 strangers have come up to her and expressed their disappointment that she was not back on the Gobel show. "That makes me feel very nice," she said.

But the dropping of her option was a boon to her career.

"Even though I didn't do very much on the show, I had to be at rehearsals all the time," she remarked. "This limited my work in other fields. Now I'm able to make more money."

Her career is perking in all directions. Last summer she played Las Vegas for the first time. She flew to New York for the Steve Allen show last Sunday, doing a dance number for the first time on TV. Next month she draws the plum role in an NBC spectacular, "Jack and the Beanstalk."

"Now I'm able to get around the country and help exploit my records," she added. "When I was tied down to NBC, I couldn't do that."

"But my real ambition is to do a Broadway show. I have several opportunities. I think that would be the best thing for my career right now."

Boy Is No Match For Roaming Boxer

DETROIT — Six-year-old Donnie knew 5-year-old Beulah shouldn't be running away from home like that so he took out after her. He caught her, but his four-foot, 50-pound frame was no match for her four-foot, 90-pound one, and Beulah had a yen to roam.

Donnie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rivard and Beulah is their boxer dog.

Donnie said Beulah didn't want to go home, so he followed, yanking to no avail now and then on her chain collar.

Police spotted a big dog and a small boy trudging along more than a mile from Donnie's home. So when Donnie's alarmed parents called an hour later the police knew where to start looking. "I'm lost," Donnie told policemen. "I didn't want to come down here, but Beulah did."

VISITS ACADEMY — Wayne Brown, 1812 South Lamine, has just returned from a trip to Denver, Colo., where he was a guest of the Air Cadets at Lowry Air Force Academy. Wayne, a senior in Smith-Cotton High School, was one of 30 boys picked from the 600 attending Boys State this summer, to be a guest of the Air Force for a stay at the Air Academy. He was flown to Denver and back in a military plane.

Century Old Longwood Church Homecoming

In 1856, the Longwood Methodist Church was organized at the Hansbro school house near Marshall Junction. Later it was moved to Longwood, and held services in the Presbyterian Church, which was built in 1865, on alternate Sundays with union Sunday School every Sunday. In 1890, the Methodists built their own church, which was destroyed by fire in November, 1915. The present building was then erected and dedicated in 1917.

A homecoming will be held at the Longwood Church Oct. 21 with Dr. C. E. Hix, Fayette, delivering the 11 o'clock sermon. A basket dinner will be held at noon in the basement.

The afternoon program will consist of short talks by former members and pastors and the history of the church will be read. All former members and friends are invited to attend.

PBWC Holds Barbecue

The Business and Professional Women's Club will have its social meeting with a barbecue at the home of its president, Mrs. Anna Bagby, 916 South Barrett, at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

Members of the committee are Mrs. W. G. Borne, chairman; Mrs. Darrell Ball, co-chairman; Mrs. Robert Anderson, Miss Eugenia Arnold, Mrs. Duane Boucke, Mrs. A. L. Bohling; Mrs. Lena Boothe, Mrs. A. B. Burke, Mrs. H. H. Deal, Mrs. Duane Ewing, Miss Margaret Ferguson, Mrs. Virginia Flower; Dr. Ermine Fischer, Miss Helen Giokaris, Mrs. Glen King, Mrs. Ralph A. Kurtz, Mrs. Maria Layne, Mrs. Virginia Rose Moore, Mrs. Floyd Priddy, Miss Anna Sawford, Miss Mayme Shipley, Mrs. F. W. Tennyson, Mrs. Robert Tyler, Mrs. Clyda Wallace, Mrs. Ike L. Warren, Mrs. Minnie Wilson and Mrs. Elmer Adams.

Move to California

The Rev. and Mrs. Donald G. Smith and son, Benny, left Knob Noster for San Francisco where he has acquired a position with United Airlines at International Air Port. He was pastor of the Knob Noster Presbyterian Church for two years.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — James Rentas had his pet fox staked outside the YMCA where he was staying. A city employee re-staked it in the pound.

Plunk Plunks Mickel Into Wrong Container

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. — Plunk went a nickle into the mouth of a 2½-year-old girl. Plunk into the family car and to the hospital. Plunk onto the table and plunk, off the table and onto her feet went Trudy May Plunk. Doctors suggested that little Trudy was doing fine but should plunk her nickles down for ice cream in the future.

Fire Caused By Lightning Razes Barn

A large barn on the farm of Raelburn Lane, 6½ miles southeast of Knob Noster, was struck by lightning about 9:30 Saturday morning and burned to the ground despite efforts by a Whiteman Air Force Base fire truck.

The barn and its contents were a total loss. Before the blaze had progressed far, however, Lane managed to save a truck which had been parked in the barn, but was threatened with his own life when he attempted to drive an automobile, a 1956 Chevrolet Bel-Air, from the building.

After removing the truck, Lane had trouble getting the car started and not until the heat from the fire had scorched all the paint on the auto and exploded the windows did he get the auto running to drive it from the burning structure.

Only because the barn burned so quickly was the Air Base fire department unable to bring the blaze under control. From a distance one of the Whiteman firemen had seen the lightning strike the barn and set it ablaze. Without solicitation, the truck was immediately sent to the fire but it was well underway by the time the truck arrived.

The barn was covered by insurance, but the contents, which included much hay, farm equipment and a calf, was not insured. Another calf standing near the barn was struck and killed by the lightning.

There was no estimate of the loss.

Dan Robinson Tells of His Hunting Trip

Dan Robinson relived his recent hunting and fishing trip to British Columbia and took his fellow Kiwanians with him during an illustrated talk given before the Sedalia Kiwanis Club meeting in Bothwell Hotel Thursday noon.

Robinson's trip last month was with Dr. John Lamy, Attorney William F. Brown and Ernest Martin. They made the journey by automobile for 2,800 miles and were taken by boat into the backwoods where they shot a moose, encountered bear, and a fishing haven amid Canada's most scenic background. Colored movies of the trip and still shots were colorful evidence that the Sedalia nimrods had found a vacation paradise.

Capt. Boyce Duncan was a guest of Robinson and showed the movies on his projector. Duncan's movie camera was also the one used on the trip. James Farrow, Dadeville, Ala., was also a guest.

Abe Rosenthal, who with Vice-President Mike Giokaris was a delegate to the Mo-Ark district Kiwanis convention in Jefferson City, reported in detail about the two-day activities there at which Robert F. Lawler, Kennett, was elected district governor.

Overseas Yule Mail Should Go Oct. 15-Nov. 15

Christmas parcels for Armed Forces overseas should be mailed during the period of Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, to insure delivery by Christmas, according to the Post Office department.

The term Armed Forces overseas includes the personnel of the Armed Forces, members of their families, and authorized United States civilians employed overseas who receive their mail through an APO New York, N. Y.; San Francisco, Calif.; New Orleans, La., or Seattle, Wash.; or Fleet Post Office, New York, N. Y.; or San Francisco, Calif.; or Navy post office, c/o Postmaster, Seattle, Wash.

The mailing of the Christmas parcels during this period is important, as no assurance can be given that surface parcels mailed after Nov. 15, or air parcel post mailed after Dec. 1, will be delivered in time for Christmas. After air parcels arrive overseas final delivery, in many cases, must be made through the use of such surface transportation facilities as are afforded by shipping, railroads, and motor vehicle. In addition, too, to the large volume of Christmas mail, it is necessary that medical and military supplies be given the highest priority on the available overseas airflit.

Parcels destined for delivery in Japan, Korea and the areas in the Pacific, preferably not later than Nov. 1, in view of the distance involved. Parcels for Navy and Marine Corps personnel serving in the most remote areas should be mailed not later than Oct. 15.

ORAL POLIO VACCINE — A new weapon in the fight against polio will undergo mass testing in 1957, according to its developer, Dr. Albert B. Sabin, University of Cincinnati scientist. It's a vaccine which can be given orally instead of by injection—the method of giving the Salk vaccine. The vaccine utilizes a "live" polio virus which is weakened so that it provides immunity for long periods without danger to the human body, says Dr. Sabin.

Lincoln District PTA Asks for Stop Signs

The Lincoln District R-2 PTA voted at its last meeting, Oct. 8, to have the secretary and health chairman write to the U.S. Highways to be placed at either end of signs to be placed at either end of Lincoln on U.S. Highway 65, in a effort to avoid highway accidents, such as the one happening to the Rev. Ronald Rash family recently when their car was struck from the rear by a truck as they were making a left turn.

Demo Rally Is Conducted At LaMonte

A large crowd gathered at LaMonte High School Thursday night to attend the Democratic rally and meet with the candidates of the Democratic party. After entertainment furnished by the music department of the school, the principal address was made by James E. Durley, Sedalia city attorney.

Calling attention to the local candidates, Durley said, "Those of our candidates seeking re-election have made a good record in the offices in which they have served and in my opinion they deserve to be re-elected. Locally our party has carried out the promises that have been made. We promised county-wide fire protection, and you in LaMonte, with your fine volunteer fire department have had occasion to cooperate with the Pettis County department. In the coming years, if we have a Democratic court, this system will be expanded to permit adequate rural fire protection in all parts of this county."

"The Pettis County Court, under the leadership of the Democratic party, has," said the speaker, "in the past two years whipped the problem of caring for the indigent sick, who need attention, and who are dependent on the charity of all of us. We believe in the Golden Rule, and we believe that people are more important than money."

We see no reason for having funds lying idle in our treasury, and at the same time refusing admittance to our hospital, some needy person, whom through no fault of his own, is now without funds."

Turning to the national ticket Durley said, "There should be no doubt in the minds of our farmers that our party, and not the Republican party, is the friend of the farmer. The record is clear on this point. Yet in spite of the fact that the farmer is not earning a living, the cost of food in the market is the highest in the history of the nation."

After Durley's address, refreshments were served by the LaMonte PTA.

Pins Tell Whether Girl Goes Steady

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Fellows can tell at a glance whether girls at Greenville High are looking, interested, going steady, feuding or hooked.

Small homemade pins decorated with rhinestones and sequins tell the tale. The pins are worn in pairs.

If a girl is just looking around, she wears the pins parallel.

If hooked, she wears the pins placed horizontal with the points nearly meeting.

If interested, she wears the pins barely crossed at the tips.

If she's at the "steady" stage but still not hooked, her pins are completely crossed.

If the girl and her boy friend are feuding, she wears the pins at an angle with the points slanted inward.

A junior high girl who dreamed up the system makes the decorative pins and sells them at 6 cents a pair.

NO SERVICE WORRIES—WE SERVICE WHAT WE SELL

Oil Progress Depends On Daily Service

Most any motorist who has done considerable cross country travel will acknowledge he has occasionally encountered a service station goof — the kind of inattentive, smart-aleck attendant, who feels you are imposing on him by driving in and asking for a tank full of fuel.

These individuals are few and far between. The last one we encountered was in Louisiana three years ago.

There are some 200,000 service stations in this country of which the great majority are run by competitive small businessmen. They are the chief contact between the oil industry and the American consumers of oil who individually on the average use two gallons of petroleum and its by-products each day. It's hard to realize that the oil industry is less than a century old since the first well was opened in Titusville, Penna., in 1859, or that a New Brunswick driller who brought in another well about the same time, shut it down because he thought North America could only support one oil well.

The story of oil, however, goes much farther back into antiquity. Moses' mother was supposed to have made his basket waterproof with "slime and pitch." Legend refers to the Greek battle against the Scythians when they destroyed the entire invading Scythian fleet by pouring oil into the sea and igniting it.

Also the Romans, according to Pliny, used oil to calm turbulent seas.

Today is the beginning of Oil Progress Week and it is significant to call attention to the strides made in this country of free competitive enterprise which has allowed the oil industry to develop so progressively.

To most Americans the symbol of that industry is the filling station operator who dispenses prompt and efficient service and who with properly coached employees becomes a tremendous asset to any community.

The men who respond to the daily request to "fill her up," are perhaps the first local residents visitors meet, and the only residents most travelers talk to. How many realize that these service station men send a stream of customers to restaurants, stores, hotels and other businesses. How many realize that visitors and travelers get their first impressions — good or bad — from the service station operator or his employees.

Because, in the Sedalia area at least, these men do such a good job of personal service and public relations in behalf of the community, they have the general approbation of those who want Sedalia to be known as a good town in which to live and rear a family.

We're glad Oil Progress Week comes around once a year so we can talk about this industry and its contribution to community and national progress.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Money-Raiser Got Wrong Number

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON.—A frantic Republican fund raiser got the shock of his life the other day when he blew into town seeking money to elect Rep. Cliff Young to the Senate.

Young, a Republican, is seeking to capture the seat of the late Pat McCarran's successor, Sen. Alan Bible, Democrat. So far, however, Bible looks strong. Hence Young is running scared.

After arriving in Washington, the Republican from Nevada put in a hurry-up phone call to Sen. Barry Goldwater, Arizona Republican, who was chairman of the GOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, and is still a power when it comes to parceling out the GOP war chest to local candidates.

Something went wrong with the Capitol switchboard, however, and instead of Goldwater, the Republican from Nevada mistakenly got connected with the office of Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee. Gore is a Democrat, also heads the current congressional probe of campaign contributions.

"Is the Senator there? I've got to talk to him," declared the man from Nevada, breathlessly.

"No," answered Gore's secretary, unaware that the caller was actually trying to reach Senator Goldwater of Arizona.

"Well, have him call me when he comes in, and if I'm asleep when he calls, have him wake me up. It's important," the Nevada declared.

Later, Senator Gore returned to his office, was told by his secretary that an excited gentleman from Nevada was trying to reach him. Senator Gore called the telephone number the Nevada had left.

"Senator," began the man from Nevada. "We've got to have some money for Cliff Young out in Nevada. We originally figured we were 20,000 votes behind, and now we think we've got it down to only 15,000. But we're in a bad way unless we get some money. That Gosh-darned Senator who's investigating campaign contributions is drying up our sources. I've just come from Chicago and they're all afraid to contribute."

"Just a minute," interrupted Senator Gore, finally able to get in a word edgewise. "My name is Gore, Albert Gore of Tennessee. I'm a Democrat. There must be some mistake."

"Oh my goodness!!" shouted the man from Nevada, hanging up the phone, realizing that the Senator he had just spoken to was the same Senator who was investigating campaign contributions and "drying up" the sources.

Adult Polio Shots

As the 1956 polio season draws to an end, it becomes increasingly evident that the Salk vaccine has had amazing success.

The most recent report from the U. S. Public Health Service shows that there have been 11,503 cases of polio since the first of the year as against 21,751 cases for approximately the same time during 1955.

This striking ratio, which comes near being two to one, leads all experts to believe that someday the dread disease will be entirely wiped out.

Yet the job is far from finished.

For one thing, there are still children in some states who have not received the minimum amount of vaccine.

In hundreds of communities where the needs of youngsters have been met, it's time for others to line up for shots.

The misconception that adults are immune to polio and do not need vaccine is unfortunately widespread, according to officials of the Public Health Service and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Actually, authorities warn that polio rates have increased perceptibly in the 25-to-35 age bracket over the last 10 years.

This is an important reason why the foundation is launching a campaign to get everyone in the country to take shots.

The NFIP intends to spend 10 million dollars to purchase vaccine for families who cannot afford it.

Certainly the days of critical vaccine shortages are over. Today the goal is to eliminate the complacency of adults and parents who neglect to provide protection for themselves and their children.

Guest Editorial—

CAPE GIRARDEAU MISSOURIAN: The Stock Market Animals. Some financial prophets are forecasting an end to the bull markets in stocks and a backing-away in business and industry. They predict a bear market—a prolonged period of sinking stock market prices. Other prophets say exactly the opposite.

In view of the long rise in stocks, an old Wall Street maxim applies: "A bull can make money. A bear can make money. But a hog never can."

The day-to-day fluctuations of the market, such as in the past week, mean little to the expert technicians. They watch the long-term trends.

Those who predict a bear market say there are signs that the long bullish trend has either stopped already or will stop soon.

Bull or bear, however, there is no sign of real fear on Wall Street—the bone-chilling variety of fear that accompanied the catastrophic market crash in 1929.

Debate On H-Bomb Ban

Adlai Stevenson is repeating his call for a ban on H-bomb tests in the evident earnest conviction that this would be a major contribution to peace.

In the heat of a political campaign it is not easy to examine such an issue free of partisanship. But the bystanders must try, because the question is vital.

To begin, the suspension of H-bomb or A-bomb tests would not eliminate the threat of nuclear warfare, since both the United States and the Soviet Union now have substantial stockpiles of nuclear weapons.

Nor would such suspension, in America's case at least, tend to limit the development of nuclear devices at a point short of the biggest imaginable bombs. According to U. S. atomic authorities, we are already satisfied we can explode a bomb of any size that could be delivered to a target.

We have been refining and fashioning nuclear weapons of smaller type.

Some of these weapons are of tactical nature, designed for use by ground forces. Others are being tried with the idea of confining fall-out within a limited area.

These are the arms we would be curtailing. No doubt we would make a considerable impression upon neutral and other uncommitted peoples should we call off all tests. We might even find the Russians responding in kind and suspending their own.

But this problem has tricky aspects.

It is true, as Stevenson says, that we would know the instant the Reds touched off another bomb and thereby violated the truce of testing. Yet suppose they feverishly prepared new devices in a given truce period and then suddenly, after eight or 18 months, let one go. We might find we had lost considerable ground in this vital field.

In such a matter the initiative would always be with the nation committed to immorality as a way of life, willing always to violate an agreement at whatever moment suited its strategic convenience.

We obviously cannot afford to fall behind.

The Russians far outdo us in ground forces and to some extent in the air. Our reservoir of atomic force, believed to be substantially greater than Russia's, is our shield and the free world's as well.

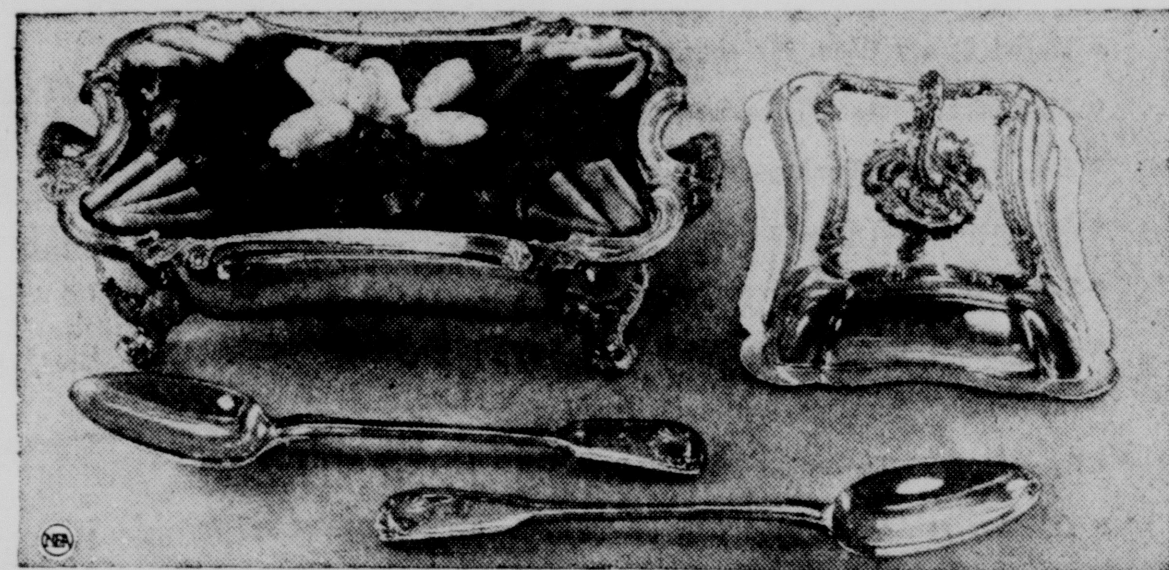

Short of an atomic ban with real enforcement teeth, and a broad disarmament plan embracing all weapons and all manpower, we cannot in safety take any step which would weaken that shield.

It might bring us closer to war rather than to the peace Stevenson so sincerely desires.

Six Day Diet for Food Editors at Annual Meeting Includes Bear Meat, Baseball

AT 18TH CENTURY BANQUET for newspaper food editors, Scotch lamb stew is served up in a regal dish from Thos. J. Lipton's priceless collection of antique silver.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food & Markets Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — What do the nation's top food editors do when they put away their recipes and come to the big town for a conference?

They eat — and how they eat. For six overstuffed days it's a diet that runs from bear meat to an 18th Century dual feast. Between meals and parties they beat an inquiring path through meetings and lectures and are entertained at everything from baseball to ballet.

That's the menu 150 of them faced at the 14th annual Newspaper Food Editors Conference in New York, sponsored by the American Association of Newspaper Representatives the week of Sept. 23, when 40 of the country's largest food suppliers and trade associations strut their stuff for the news gatherers.

The conference appetizer: Knox Gelatin's carnival at the Waldorf with real circus clowns, balloons, hot dogs, and wheels of chance on which to risk paper money supplied by the host.

The finale: A farewell tearorama where the foot-wear lady editors could kick off their shoes and hear

Amy Vanderbilt, etiquette mentor, tell them how to act ladylike when sipping tea.

They come to learn, too. What they cram into their notebooks about new foods and easier ways to prepare meals will soon be making helpful news for American housewives on their newspaper food pages.

While being briefed by Al C. Fleischmann of Standard Brands on how to feed growing high school athletes, they also get baseball autographs by famous players, the setting in this case being a World Series breakfast at Toots Shors.

At the Florida Citrus Commission's suite they are told that Florida Seminole Indian women were the first to discover that orange juice is good for babies; at another breakfast, California Sunkist takes over to wash down snacks of Jones little sausages.

They are urged by Corn Products Co., Duncan Hines and the American Institute of Baking to get from one-fourth to one-third of their daily food at breakfast, a ratio that would be tough to achieve at the conference unless the editors skipped most of the other parties.

The United Brewers Foundation drives home its message about the purchasing power of the nation's 14 million hunters with lessons in wild game cookery — and a luncheon at the Ambassador with pheasant pate, wild duck slices and smoked bear on foliage-decked trays as a starter.

Calypso singers and flamboyant plants are flown in for the Reynold's Metal noontime Jamaica Jam-boree. At the South African Lobster Association's midday spread—rock lobster, any style — famous zoo director Marlin Perkins takes the editors on a word-and-picture safari of, naturally, South Africa.

At conferences, they see acronized chickens in a tub of water, still fresh as mountain daisies; learn a slenderizing diet from Dr. George H. Berryman of Abbott Laboratories; from the National Canners, how modern husbands can be good providers.

Afternoon receptions fill in time before dinner, when banquets and buffets stud the program — from baked beans to pomp and circumstance.

In its austere tower of glass the United Nations dines the editors after a talk by Dr. R. A. Silow of FAO on the uses of atomic energy as related to food and nutrition. General Foods arranges this upper-case divertissement.

And so to the ballet, with boxes at the Metropolitan, for the American premiere of Prokofiev's "Romeo and Juliet" by the Royal Danish Ballet. Danish Information Office hosts for Danish importers. Next, a fabulous Danish "midnight cold table" with 30 imported delicacies including Danish beer and aquavit — and Danish big-wigs.

On to Queen Anne's England in the Waldorf's Sert Room, transformed into a great hall at Windsor Castle for a feast similar to one served royalty at the turn of the 18th Century. Huge roasted joints and meat pies, soups and sweets carried aloft by waiters in 18th Century livery and priceless antique silver provided by Thos. J. Lipton, Inc.

Also provided: a young and dancing black-tied escort for every lady of the gastronomical type-writer.

His Permanent Abode

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)—Police arrested Alvin Leonard, 54, on a larceny charge after he tried to peddle five pairs of nylon stockings.

Patrolman Amelio J. Ricciardi asked Leonard some routine questions . . . his name, his age, his address.

To the last query, Leonard replied, "116 Summer Street."

That's the Worcester County Jail.

Taking a Stand Now—

Education Bill Certain To Be Introduced Again

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON.—Should a congressman vote his own firm conviction when in conflict with the sentiment of the voters in his district?

The Federal Aid to Education bill, defeated in the Congress but certain to be introduced again, presents the kind of issue which confronts many a congressman with that question. Many parents in his district are weary of sending their children half-day to school because of the shortage of classrooms or teachers and sometimes both. Warned that the baby boom is certain to increase the need in the next four years, the shock of setting a precedent of federal financing is offset by the crisis. They ask what's so different between federal aid to roads and federal aid to school construction?

But the Congressman may have for years been against the principle of "converting public education into a federal function," as August E. Johansen (R-Mich.) puts his objection. Like this Michigan Republican, many of his colleagues worry that this would be "just a beginning." Johansen charges President Eisenhower with "mistaken optimism" that once the classroom shortage is overcome "the federal grant program can and must terminate."

Presidential Candidate Stevenson would give federal aid not only for construction, but for better training of teachers and college loans and scholarships.

One conscientious way a Congressman can meet the question of voting his own conviction is to warn the voters during the campaign what his position is and if they don't like the way he will vote, if elected, then they can do their best to defeat him at the polls. Congressman Johansen has done just that. He not only expresses his opinion in campaigning, but got out a news letter telling all, including his differences with President Eisenhower. Of course, in the case of his third Michigan district, it can not be assumed that the sentiment is strong for federal aid. The need in this area isn't as acute as in many other parts of the country.

Your Child's Health—

Parental Patience Will Aid Child's Toilet Training

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

All parents of young children are involved in some degree with the kind of problem brought up in a letter from Mrs. D. E.

She says in part: "A close friend has a baby boy almost two years old, and her methods of breaking him of his bowel habits seem to me to be harsh. He does an excellent job of telling his mother when he wants to empty the bladder," she says, "but often forgets about his second chore. When the mother has found what he has done, she gives him a spanking and scolding. I think the child is confused, since the mother uses the bathroom for the bladder function and a potty chair for the bowels."

Before discussing certain aspects of the bladder and bowel training of small children, I should like to say that I agree with the writer of this letter. The child could very well be confused. Spanking is both a harsh and undesirable method of handling the situation.

There are almost no children who acquire complete control over their bladder and urinary functions, either suddenly or at the same time. Furthermore, practically every child has occasional accidents long after the time when control has become generally well established.

This is not surprising, since normal youngsters are not thinking about these matters constantly and may suddenly and unconsciously reach a point where they can "wait" no longer.

It is common for a child three or four years old to wet during the day or night. Only occasionally is this a sign of delayed development or disease. Sometimes it reflects either rebellion against authority on the part of the child, desire for attention, or a feeling of insecurity.

The average child usually begins to establish bowel control between one and two years old. When the baby is nine or 10 months old, it can be placed for short periods, on the "potty."

At first this has to be done with the child lying down, as it is best not to force the child to sit up too early.

Most infants begin to catch on to the idea quickly, especially if praise is given when the desired results occur.

The "potty" should be used regularly at the same time of day, usually after the first morning meal. Neither the mother nor the baby should be worn out by keeping it up too long if success is not achieved.

Parents should avoid being irritated or showing anger when the infant fails. This makes matters worse rather than better. In an older child the responsibility for good bowel habits should rest on the youngster rather than the parent.

The wise mother will be restrained from expecting too much too soon.

Tigers Beat Hannibal 24-13 in CMC Opener

Newman Scores Three of Four TDs To Shuttle Hannibal Homecoming

Smith-Cotton Tigers broke up a happy Homecoming for the Hannibal Pirates Friday night by taking the first Central Missouri Conference tilt for the Tigers 24-13. The locals were all fired up after their previous week victory over North Kansas City 20-19 and refused to let down during the game.

The locals jumped off to an early lead in the opening stanza by scoring a touchdown when Charles Newman skirted around the end for 14 yards. He missed the conversion. But then the Pirates came back in that quarter and pulled one over which tied up the game 6-6.

With 50 seconds to go in the second quarter Murray dropped back and heaved a long pass good for 39 yards to Larry Shepherd. The ball was worked on down to the four and a short pass over the line Murray to Shepherd brought the second score within 20 seconds before the closing of the quarter. Again the conversion was missed.

The score at the half time period stood with the Tigers leading 12-6. Coming back on the field in the third quarter, and fired up from the talk given them by Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow and Coach Bob Edmondson, they went out and pulled in two more touchdowns, with Newman carrying each time on end runs. The conversions were both missed.

On one play Newman trotted 65 yards down the field for a touchdown only to have it nullified because some Tigers had been caught holding. But it didn't dampen the boys' spirit and they came back to put on a drive and made it anyway.

The third quarter ended with the Sedalians having a 24-6 lead. Coach Dow elected to move in the sophomore squad for the final quarter and they played the entire period. It was in this quarter that the Pirates succeeded in boosting their score when a touchdown and conversion were made. Thus Hannibal had a 13-tally which remained such until the final whistle blew.

It was interesting to note the other Central Missouri Conference tilt was a battle between the Jefferson City Jays and the Columbia Hickman Kewpies. Jefferson City, in spite of having the breaks go against them from start to finish, ended with a victory of 13-6.

Another interesting point in the score being close indicated the battle will be on at Columbia next week when the Tigers meet the Kewpies. Both Columbia and Jefferson City have played the Hannibal Pirates and won their games with identical scores of 27-7.

With the Tigers falling short by three conversions of equaling the Jays and Kewpies scoring against Hannibal, the other touchdowns made by the Pirates was against the Tiger subs.

Columbia will be holding its Homecoming game when the Tigers invade their privacy next Friday night, and they'll be fired to the hilt to trounce the Sedalians.

Nashua Ends Racing Career With Victory

NEW YORK, Oct. 13 (AP) — The colorful but unpredictable Nashua ran one of his mightiest races today, breaking the American record as he closed out his racing career with a platinum plated performance in the $54,700 Jockey Club Gold Cup at Belmont Park.

With Eddie Arcaro steering, and Nashua battling off the challenges of all comers over the entire 2-mile route, the 4-year-old Mr. Millions slammed under the finish line in 3:20 2/5 to clip two fifths of a second off the record set by Market Wise in taking the 1941 Gold Cup.

Nashua, owned by the Leslie B. Combs syndicate, leaves Monday for Kentucky. Now he takes along a little going away present amounting to $36,600 from the Gold Cup. That hoisted his winnings to $1,288,565, more than any other horse in the history of racing. It was the 30th start, and 22nd victory for the son of Nashullah-Segula, by Johnstown.

In beating the Greenree Stale's 3-year-old Riley by two and one quarter lengths after a hard fought, driving battle, Nashua became the first horse in the 37 runnings of the Gold Cup to win at the age of 3, and then 4. In fact, 3-year-olds have won it ever since 1946 when Pavot, then 4, was the victor.

Another 3-year-old, C. T. Chenery's Third Brother, finished third, a length and three quarters back of Riley, and four lengths before the fourth horse, the Llangollen Farms Mister Gus.

Baylor Uses Arkansas Fumbles for 14-7 Win

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 13 (AP) — Nationally ranked Baylor picked up seven of 11 Arkansas fumbles to fight off the ground assault of Arkansas' brilliant Gerald Nesbitt and fashioned a 14-7 Southwest Conference football victory here today.

Title-setting today is a $500 million business in the U. S.

Hubbard Rips At Marshall Owls 'B' 51-0

All Tiger Players See Action, Ready For Homecoming

The Hubbard Tigers tuned up for their Homecoming game next week by trouncing the Marshall Owls "B" squad 51-0, with all twenty-two players of Hubbard seeing equal action.

First quarter: Hubbard kicked to Marshall, after making a first and ten, Marshall fumbled with Hubbard recovering. After a steady ground attack sparked by a 20 yd. run by quarter-back E. Sims, H. Houston carried the ball over from the 15 for T. D. Try for extra point was blocked.

On Hubbard's next T. D. J. Jackson intercepted Marshall pass on the 30 yd. line and returned to the 2 yd. line. Quarter-back E. McFeters carried over from 2 for T. D. Try for extra point no good. First quarter score—Hubbard 12 - Marshall 0.

Second quarter: Marshall began the second quarter by advancing the ball from their 10 to the Hubbard 20 on a combination of runs by Halfback H. Robinson and Fullback D. Swinger. They were then pushed back to Hubbard 36, where Hubbard took over on downs. On first play E. Sims carried to 45, on next play H. Houston ran 55 yds. for T. D. Q. Jones kicked extra point.

Hubbard's next score was gained when J. Jackson intercepted a pass on Marshall 35 and went all the way for T. D. Q. Jones ran for extra point, but was nullified because of off-sides, the next attempt was no good. Half-time score Hubbard 25, Marshall 0.

Third quarter: Opening the scoring for Hubbard was W. Jones, who intercepted a pass on his own 45 and ran for T. D. Try for extra point no good.

On the next scoring play quarter-back Sims dropped back to kick, but passed to H. Houston on Marshall 45—Houston ran for T. D. Try for extra point no good. Fourth quarter: Sims started the fourth quarter scoring by running the ball 20 yds. to the Marshall 5. He then carried the ball over for a T. D. Q. Jones kicked extra point.

On next scoring playing W. Jones on a double reverse went 45 yds. for T. D. Jones kicked extra point. R. Cox, E. Johnson, D. Christian, W. Cole, L. Boggess, L. Moody, C. Jones, and L. Curd all turned in exceptional blocking and tackling in the line for Hubbard.

Hart Scheduled For Welter Bout Against Dennis

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 13 (AP) — If Garnett (Sugar) Hart can fight as well as his manager can sell tickets, he'll go far in the ring.

The manager, Marty Stein, had to sell $1,000 worth of tickets to get the Philadelphia welterweight his first nationally televised bout at St. Nicholas Arena in New York Monday night. Hart meets Earl Dennis (The Menace) and Stein has done his ticket peddling job so well he thinks he'll probably supply half the audience at the arena.

Hart, 20, has a record of 16 wins in 17 pro bouts with 15 of them knockouts. He won 62 straight, including the national AAU title, as an amateur. Sugar is the kind of unknown a name fighter has everything to lose and nothing to gain by fighting.

"I tried to get him a bout with fellows like Joe Miceli, Virgil Atkins and Danny Giovannelli but none of them would fight my boy," Stein says.

Rocky Intends To Stay Retired From Boxing

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13 (AP) — Six months after he abdicated the world's heavyweight throne, Rocky Marciano had the same answer today to the inevitable question: Does he really intend to stay retired?

The unhesitating reply: "Sure." And the proud ex-champ tells why: "When it comes to the point where you're just fighting for money, I don't believe it's right." Rocky spoke his mind at a luncheon news conference during what might well have been officially proclaimed Marciano day in the capital. He came to receive a "man of the year" award to-night from the Lido Civic Club, an organization of Washington business and professional men of Italian descent.

Patrolman Is Wounded By Webb City Gunman

LAMAR, Mo., Oct. 13 (AP) — A state highway patrolman was wounded in the ankle tonight by a man who had threatened a family with a rifle, Sgt. Bill East of the patrol said.

Two other troopers arrested the man, Claude Leroy Carter, 34, of Webb City, Mo. East said Carter was drunk and was tossed in jail to sober up before a charge of assault with intent to kill is filed against him.

Sooners Trample Texans

Blank Longhorns 45-0 to Increase Win Streak to 33; Record Is Near

DALLAS, Oct. 13 (AP) — Oklahoma's twin football phantoms — Tommy McDonald and Clendon Thomas—vied for the glory and won it almost equally today as they scored three touchdowns apiece and ran Texas ragged for a 45-0 victory that brought the magnificent Sooners' winning streak to 33 straight.

It tied the modern college record and came within three of the all-time mark while the nation's No. 1 team was lashing Texas with its second worst defeat in the 56-year history of this ancient inter-sectional game.

McDonald, who was burned up last week when he failed to score against Kansas State, was never more magnificent. He ran for 140 yards, he returned a kickoff for 54, he caught two passes for 61, threw one pass for 27 and had one 47-yard run nullified by the penalty.

Thomas was almost as spectacular as he was for 123 yards in 13 carries.

A crowd of 75,504 watched the Big Red plow a fighting but futile Longhorn team under with one of the most awesome running games the Cotton Bowl ever saw.

It was futile to Texas, so futile that one of the Longhorns—Robert E. Lee, a guard—look a poke at Dale Sherrod, Sooner reserve quarterback, as time was running out. They wrestled around without damage.

Back in 1903 Oklahoma beat Texas 50-0 for the worst defeat of all time. Today's Oklahoma victory was the fifth straight over the Longhorns. It would have been higher but the Sooners committed nine fumbles and lost four, three of which halted drives. One touchdown—a 63-yard dash by Jay O'Neal, Sooner quarterback—was wiped out when it was found that the ball had been whistled dead.

Oklahoma rolled up a massive 369 yards on the ground to a pitiful 74 for Texas and passed for 133 compared to 114 for the Longhorns.

Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

WELL, this week end was the one for the Smith-Cotton Tigers, not to mention the University of Missouri Tigers—both teams won by a nice margin. The Smith-Cotton gang by a 24-13 score and the M. U. Tigers 42-0.

Of course we around Sedalia are more interested in what the hometown team is doing. Especially since they are now playing in the Central Missouri Conference circuit, opening their conference play against Hannibal with the 24-13 victory.

Naturally it put the Tigers right in the running with Columbia and Jefferson City, the latter two beating Hannibal by scores of 27-7. But the Jeff City Jays took care of Columbia last Friday to the tune of 13-6 to remain undefeated as is Sedalia. Now next week Columbia and Smith-Cotton tangle and the results remain to be seen.

I still think the local Tigers can take care of themselves with the Columbia Kewpies, and will do right well against the Jays. Their spirits were put into a soaring mood a week ago with the upset over North Kansas City 20-19, and then taking on Hannibal for their third victory of the season. One thing for sure, both Columbia and Jefferson City, who have more first string lettermen back this year than the Tigers, will know they have been smothered by the time the game ends.

It is definitely established the Tigers won't end up in the cellar of the Conference, and still have a good chance of coming out on top. If sideline support has anything to do with it, the Tigers can't lose.

MEMORIAL STADIUM

Columbia had plenty of seats for football fans Saturday. North Dakota State was definitely an underdog team against the M. U. Tigers and that was one reason why a lot of fans took advantage what they figured an "off day" and went some place else to see football.

Let it not be said the State players let down. They were in trying awful hard against the favored M. U. Tigers, but were fighting almost a useless battle from the time of the kickoff until the game came to a 42-0 conclusion.

Many wondered why Missouri picked on North Dakota State. For your information it was a "fill in" game on the Tiger schedule. The game originally scheduled for the Tiger was with Fordham and that University cancelled out football this year, leaving an open date on the Tiger schedule.

Coach Don Faurot had his troubles and a search to fill in the date was made and North Dakota was the best available at the time. One thing for sure the Tigers got in some well needed practice against State and a lot of Tigers saw action Saturday that hadn't been off the bench in a regular game up to that time.

Actually the score didn't speak for the Tigers, or for Coach Faurot. It could have been one of the biggest slaughters any Faurot team could produce in football. But Coach Faurot, the gentleman he is, did not care to embarrass anyone and as a result jerked the first string players early and gave the "youngsters" a chance. In so doing the adding machine was not necessary to provide the figures.

Faurot is not a coach who takes delight in pounding an underdog. He would rather give all the players a chance when he has a safe margin, than to wear out the first string and build up a score which means little or nothing. Victory is all that counts.

Along those lines, I am happy to say we have a coach right here at Smith-Cotton high school Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow, who follows that practice of giving everybody a chance and not wading in for big tallies.

Thus it was a big weekend for Tigers in this area.

ANY number of hunters are getting itchy trigger fingers and wanting to go for the Ducks. Missouri's Conservation law on migratory waterfowl is set up on the federal laws as the governing factor. The season opens Friday, October 26 and closes on Jan. 3rd.

Daily bag limit is four, possession limit is 8 on ducks; five and five on geese; 10-10 on coots.

I hope this is the information you hunters have been wanting. The federal regulations just reached me.

K-State Tops Cornhuskers 10-7 in Upset

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 13 (AP) — A tremendous 35-yard field goal expertly booted by sophomore half-back Ben Grosse carried Kansas State to a 10-7 upset over the favored Nebraska Cornhuskers today in a Big Seven Conference football clash before 24,000 fans at Memorial Stadium here.

A 30-mile south wind out of leaden skies gave distance to the third quarter kick and helped break a 7-7 deadlock established in the first eight minutes of play.

It marked the first win in four starts this season for the undermanned Kansas State Wildcats and all but submerged Nebraska's chances of a third straight runner-up spot behind perennial champion Oklahoma in the league.

The teams traded touchdowns in the first eight minutes of play before bogging down in general ineffectiveness.

In the first 12 plays after the kickoff Nebraska covered 72 yards and halfback Larry Naviaux made the drive good on a seven-yard touchdown run. George Harshman converted.

Three minutes later Kansas State was back in contention, covering 68 yards in six plays and scoring on quarterback Keith Wilson's 11-yard off-tackle run. Kenny Nesmith's conversion kicked tied it up at 7-7 and that's the way it remained until Grosse broke up the game with his great kick.

Kansas State 7 0 3 0—10
Nebraska 7 0 0 0—7
K. State scoring—Touchdown: Wilson (11, run). Field Goal: Grosse (35).

Nebraska scoring—Touchdown: Naviaux (7, run). Conversion: Harshman.

District Meeting at Wesley Church Features Flower Show

A feature of particular interest in connection with the West Central District meeting Oct. 3 at the Wesley Methodist Church was the flower show.

The theme of the show, "Colorama," painted in large letters in various colors on a black background occupied a place of prominence at the back of the stage in the large fellowship room of the Methodist Church where the flower show and the afternoon meeting of the district were held.

An easel on which was placed a large black palette with two paint brushes stood at the rear of the stage. On the palette were dabs of paint in hues which correspond to the hues of the color chart that flowers arrangers use in their work.

Each garden club member was given a tiny palette, cut from bright-colored construction paper, bearing her name which she wore during the meeting. Colorful place cards were also made in the form of palettes.

Three long tables placed on the platform on either side and in front of the easel held three classes of arrangements and compositions of striking color harmonies; "Cargo of Gold" in which yellow or orange predominated; "Fire Dance" with red the dominant hue; and "Piracy," a class featuring the extreme in values, black and white.

Miniatures were staged in tiered niches on either side of the stage. The remaining artistic classes and the horticulture classes were placed on long tables on either side and to the front of the fellowship hall.

Mrs. G. D. Rayburn of the Green Ridge Garden Club won the tricolor ribbon on her arrangement in the class, "Cargo of Gold." The design of the arrangement was a Hogarth Curve made using orange pyracantha berried branches for line and orange colored marigolds for accent. The container was an antique brass lamp stand. It was a very colorful arrangement artistically handled.

Each artistic class was based on color emphasis. All classes were well filled with arrangements and compositions showing the exhibitor's originality and artistic ability in well executed designs and varied and interesting interpretations of class themes.

In spite of unfavorable weather conditions the horticulture exhibits were of good quality. Of the five flowers featured—roses, marigolds, zinnias, dahlias, chrysanthemums—the roses held the spotlight. There were roses of all colors and many varieties.

Kansas Citian Is Speaker—

Friendliness Wins Friends, Scottish Rite Club Is Told

A man who has friends must prove himself friendly, Eugene Britian, Kansas City, told members of the Sedalia Scottish Rite Club, their wives and guests at a dinner meeting held Wednesday night at the Otterville High School.

Every community, he pointed out, has a sourpuss, but you shouldn't hold it against him. He works hard at it. You can feel it the minute such a person enters the room. You know immediately he is going to say the wrong thing. You feel the presence of a friendly person the minute he enters a room, too, there is something in his friendliness that radiates to everybody in the room.

There is an art to shaking hands. There are people who rush at you and practically knock you down, some have a crusher handshake, some have a fisttail handshake, some a dainty handshake where you have to do all the pumping, and then there are those with a warm, friendly clasp that really has a meaning. When there is trouble some people never say a word, they just shake your hand and that handshake says volumes. Some people can't shake hands, they just can't, but they will put their hand on your shoulder, he said.

Britian told how he liked to shake the men before lodge and shake their hands. "Now and then there will be someone new and when I shake hands with them they open their heart door and I walk in," he said. Then he told of a man who always started his letters with: "Across the miles comes my handshake of friendship."

There are friends that go in and out of our lives but most people have only two or three real bosom friends, and Britian went on to say that as a child he thought it was terrible to see men cry. Men at that time thought they should be brave and strong and should not give in to tears, but now, he feels that men should cry. They should go off by themselves and cry.

Composition all dried material, first, Mrs. H. C. Sammons, Club III, Sedalia; second, Mrs. B. Y. Edelen, Club III, Sedalia; third, Mrs. Louis Poppinga, Malta Bend; fourth, Mrs. Bill Poppinga, Malta Bend. B. arrangement of fresh material, first, Mrs. Bill Poppinga, Malta Bend; second, Mrs. H. C. Sammons, Club III, Sedalia; third, Mrs. N. U. Rush, Stepping Stones Club, Warsaw; fourth, Mrs. Alfred Schreiner, Club VIII, Sedalia.

The meeting was presided over by E. D. Sutherland, president of the Sedalia Scottish Rite, with invocation by A. E. Messenger, chaplain.

John Chambers of Kansas City, membership chairman of jurisdiction, complimented the Scottish Rite in the jurisdiction on the work they are doing. He then introduced Forrest Rapp, Kansas City, general membership chairman, and special guests.

Entertainment was dancing by two little sisters, Linda Lee and Connie Reed.

A. J. Gregory, chairman of refreshments, made arrangements for the banquet which was served by the Otterville Eastern Star. Chrysanthemums in autumn shades formed the arrangement on the speaker's table. Hedge balls and autumn leaves cut from paper were used on the other tables.

Mysterious Distress Signals Pose Riddle For Search Armada

LONDON, Oct. 13 (AP)—Mysterious SOS signals posed a riddle tonight for a big air and sea armada searching the eastern Atlantic for 59 American servicemen who disappeared Wednesday aboard a military transport plane.

Unsigned signals heard by both ships and aircraft early today guided mercy planes to an area about 100 miles off the northwest tip of Spain—an area in which the C118 Liftmaster could well have gone down with its crew of 9 Navy men and 50 Air Force passengers headed home to their Lincoln, Neb., base from duty in Britain.

One of the first planes to arrive reported sighting two yellow survivor rafts of a type carried by the missing plane. The pilot at first said he saw a man aboard one of the rafts.

This spurred hopes that some of the group might be found. But as the rest of the search armada by E. D. Sutherland, president of the Sedalia Scottish Rite, with invocation by A. E. Messenger, chaplain.

John Chambers of Kansas City, membership chairman of jurisdiction, complimented the Scottish Rite in the jurisdiction on the work they are doing. He then introduced Forrest Rapp, Kansas City, general membership chairman, and special guests.

Entertainment was dancing by two little sisters, Linda Lee and Connie Reed.

A. J. Gregory, chairman of refreshments, made arrangements for the banquet which was served by the Otterville Eastern Star. Chrysanthemums in autumn shades formed the arrangement on the speaker's table. Hedge balls and autumn leaves cut from paper were used on the other tables.

Have you ever wondered, he asked, why some people, a husband and wife, chose each other? They didn't look as if they belonged to each other but was personality that did it, a thing we call love.

People, he said, either repel or attract. Learn to be pleasant, he urged. Be nice to everyone, you never know when you'll need them.

Fellowship, the speaker said, is something we all need and only in America can we have such fellowship as this.

The speaker was introduced by E. W. Kettlesen, Kansas City, secretary of the Scottish Rite. Both Britian and Kettlesen are 33rd degree Masons.

The meeting was presided over

Riot at Hospital; Escape Plan Fizzles

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. Oct. 13 (AP)—More than 60 insane criminals rioted at Beauty Memorial State Hospital last night after a planned mass escape failed. Tear gas was used to quell the riot.

Dr. Dean Tasher, medical chief of the hospital's maximum security division, said property damage in smashed furniture and windows might amount to more than $5,000.

None of the inmates was injured, he said. One hospital attendant cut his finger on broken glass.

Beatty is at Westville 15 miles south of Michigan City. The tear gas was shot into the ward when the rioters ignored an order to stop breaking the furniture, Dr. Tasher said. There was no further attempt to resistance and all the inmates were bedded down in other wards by 12:15 a.m.

Six ringleaders who planned to lead an escape were separated from the other inmates, Dr. Tasher said.

New Pettis County Firefighting System Is Being Put Into Effect

A dream of many years partly came true a year ago when the Pettis County Court adopted the County Fire Department, but it wasn't the complete answer to that dream of fire protection for all the county. Now the dream comes closer to being realized with a working agreement between the county and five Pettis County towns — LaMonte, Smithton, Green Ridge, Houstonia, and Hughesville — on fire protection.

The County Court has announced the five cities, along with the court, have devised a working agreement, and the cooperation shown by all parties is gratifying. Especially since they are taking into consideration the wide-spread fire protection being offered to the greater part of county residents.

Discussing the new agreement between the five communities and the county, it was brought out by the court members the county is more than willing to give its assistance to those communities which are willing to help themselves. The actual cost to the county in furnishing the necessary equipment on such a widespread basis is small in comparison with the property which will be saved from destruction over a period of time.

The court pointed out the extremely dry weather in Missouri, especially this summer and fall, has brought to a crisis the danger of fire in Pettis County. As a result, the County Court has been meeting with representatives of various communities in the county relative to the organization of volunteer firefighting groups to aid the Pettis County Fire Department.

Realizing much damage by fire could be cut if there were some emergency equipment in or near vicinities of where fire might originate, a plan was worked out by which a number of small fire pumps will be located in strategic places in the county.

The pumps and adequate hose will be placed on mobile units, and the communities where they will be located will supply the necessary manpower to take the units to potential fires.

It was brought out these volunteer fire departments could do much to hold a fire from spreading until such time it takes the Pettis County fire truck to arrive on the scene with its much heavier and more effective equipment to be used. Thus, with this cooperation, much property loss from fire would be averted.

After much discussion of the plan with the five communities it was accepted for a tryout. This week the County Court opened bids for the five auxiliary pumps and fire hose. The low bidder on the pumps and hose was the Cash Hardware Co., of Sedalia, whose bid on the single pump was $382.50. Two other bids received by the court were each $442.

The county is to furnish the pumps and hose. The Smithton Fire Department will receive one pump and additional hose necessary to make it adequate to get long lines for water, the same to be given the LaMonte Fire Department. These two departments already have modern pumper fire trucks and the addition of these small portable pumps will be a great asset to both. These pumps will be carried on the fire trucks in the same manner the one is used on the county truck.

At the other three locations, mobile units, such as either a pickup truck or a handy trailer, will be used and the hose allotted to them placed on these vehicles. These communities will have full jurisdiction over the equipment and will use it as they deem necessary in fighting fire.

Both LaMonte and Smithton are subscription departments, operating through membership assessments, and their first responsibility will be to their own members who are financially supporting the department. However, they will offer the county assistance whenever they are not first serving their own paid members.

The other three communities, strictly volunteer, are to furnish the necessary vehicle to carry the fire equipment. They will serve their own communities first before going elsewhere in the county if needed. It is unlikely any of the fire companies will ever be called away from their own immediate areas, or overlapping territories.

Although this is not the most satisfactory arrangement, there is little doubt the cooperation between the communities and the county, will result in a start to build to a better firefighting arrangement for the county as a whole. The most satisfactory, it is generally agreed, would be for all communities to have modern and fully equipped fire trucks, such as Smithton, LaMonte, and the county fire departments.

Smithton and LaMonte fire trucks, like the county fire truck, have a water tank which carries several hundred gallons of water. This supply often times has a great bearing on having enough water on hand to stop a fire or enough to finish extinguishing one when water is not immediately available.

This joint project with these two towns will play a big part in the future in helping others as well as themselves.

Only two areas in the county lack the excellent firefighting arrangement that is now set up for the Smithton area and the west half of the county. They are the Postal and Longwood neighborhoods and the Bahner area. It is hoped the residents in these areas will give this arrangement some thought and join in on the county system, and when completed, Pettis County will have one of the best county systems in Missouri.

Longer Drama Show on TV May Be Better

NEW YORK (AP)—Playhouse 90, the first weekly 90-minute drama program on television, presents its second show of the season on the CBS-TV network this evening. If tonight's offering, "Requiem for a Heavyweight," develops the promise held forth by the program's debut, Playhouse 90 is well on the way to demonstrating that 90 minutes can be much better than an hour of TV drama.

It would be easy to adopt a highbrow view that "Forbidden Area," the program's first show last week, was an implausible and over-inflated melodrama. Several usually astute critics have said that it was. But I found it first-rate, absorbing television entertainment.

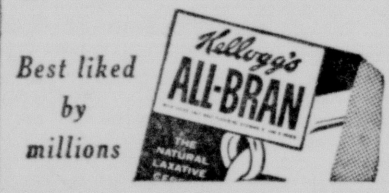

"Forbidden area," you remember, concerned a carefully plotted Russian sneak attack on the United States, with its initial step the grounding of Strategic Air Command bombers. The suspenseful buildup to the detection of the plot was at times harrowing. Rod Serling's script, in maintaining suspense and pace, was as faithful a dramatization as television possibly could offer of the Pat Frank Novel.

The significant aspect of "Forbidden Area," however, is the fact that it could not have been dramatized as convincingly in 60 minutes of TV time as in the 90 minutes it received on Playhouse 90. The TV drama maintained two parallel story lines: of the Russian Neatest trick of the season in the sportswear lineup is outdoor clothing that's light as a feather yet warm enough for any winter sport. The secret is a thin "insulating" lining that seals out cold, seals in warmth.

The new insulated garments include outfits for both men and women, in nylon, cotton poplin or a suede-like fabric. Women's coats come in various styles, from finger-tip length to shorter jackets.

Styles for men include nylon or poplin plaid jackets and a complete hunting outfit of hooded jacket and pants, all with insulated lining. There's also a vinyl hunting vest and an insulated vest warmer that can be worn under any coat. Some of these styles also are available in boys' sizes.

The new insulated lining is a development that resulted from experiments with insulated footwear designed to protect the feet of fighting men in Korea.

New Booklet Is Hair-Raiser; US Surveys Hairdressing

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — If you want the low-down on beauty culture the U. S. Department of Labor has just come up with a hair-raiser all about it.

Called "Beauty Service," it's a handy guide for hairdressers-to-be and tells a great deal about the beauty business.

"Beauty operators," explains the booklet, "improve the appearance of the hair by cutting, styling, shampooing and drying, curling, combing, waving, singeing, bleaching, dyeing or tinting."

In addition, they offer facial and scalp treatments, remove superfluous hair, arch and tint eyebrows and give manicures or other services.

Then there are specialists, notes the pamphlet, like the wig-dresser, "who arranges wigs according to the customer's specifications by curling, marcelling, trimming, or setting the hair to produce the desired effect."

The publication, which Uncle Sam is selling for two bits a copy, even throws in some historical background.

"The Greeks emphasized beauty in every phase of life," it says. "Some of their beauticians were personal attendants with specialized training who worked under a general director of beauty culture."

In modern times the biggest beauty advancement came when Charles Grateau invented the permanent wave machine in 1905. Only recently, however, did women start going to commercial shops for beauty care, according to the publication.

Today beauty service is an extensive and important industry, ranking among the first 14 occupations for women. In 1950 the census reported 190,000 women employed in beauty occupations.

Total receipts of beauty shops in the nation came close to a half billion dollars in 1953. This is said to represent a 20 per cent increase over a five-year period.

Between 1950-1955 there has been an increase of some 10,000 beauty shops. And during that period several states reported at least 1,000 more shops, among them California, Florida, Ohio.

Drugs Relax Women Who Turn Witches

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — At least half of all women are regularly transformed into tense, irritable "witches" raising hob with their husbands, children, bosses and friends, a gynecologist said today.

And if they only knew why, they could all take drugs to avoid it and make life happier all around, said Dr. Erle Henriksen of the University of Southern California, Los Angeles.

Their trouble is physical, caused by hormonal changes coming every month, and the witch spells last a few to six days. It is known as pre-menstrual tension. The spells end when menstruation begins.

The hormonal changes make their bodies swell with stored water. That apparently produces pressures on nerve centers in the brain. Symptoms include irritability, tension, easy anger, quarrelsomeness, insomnia, headache, depression, nervousness, vague discomforts, swelling of the feet so that shoes feel tight.

Dr. Henriksen, speaking to the American College of Surgeons, said the upsets can be mild or severe. He said "they can be classified as witch one types, witch two, or witch triple A. You can list the symptoms for each category, and the women will tell you which they become."

At all other times, these same women are usually very pleasant with likable personalities. Victims are usually the more intelligent women, usually the perfectionist type who never relaxes.

Dr. Henriksen said the best drug he had found for the condition is neohydrin, a mercurial compound which speeds elimination of excess water.

Your Wardrobe
by Frances Sagaloff
at Sage's

About this time of the year we frequently find our wardrobe somewhat inadequate for the rush of affairs. Coffees, luncheons, meetings, afternoon cards and teas to say nothing of six and after affairs do require numerous changes. Limited shopping time as well as limited budgets can cause us to be near a panic wondering what to do about it. I think perhaps the most successful answer is a well-chosen wardrobe of separates, handsome woolen fabrics in both solid and tweeds are found in skirts, jumpers, jackets and slacks. Co-ordinated blouses either in cotton or jersey are beautifully done. For more dressy affairs velvetene preferably in black is a favorite. Good-looking skirts in both complete circle or sheath type are found in velvet. You can have a matching blouse or go into a white or pastel nylon or satin. Dyed-to-match skirts and sweaters continue to be good and with proper accessories they will go many places. Bulky knit boxy sweaters frequently jeweled will make many a simple outfit have a new look. Try new combinations, change your hair-style and make-up—all these things help make a limited wardrobe go farther and give you a well-dressed look.

Autumn Theme In Decorations At Ladies' Aid

A very pretty table was arranged by Mrs. Carl Bergmann, for the St. Paul's Lutheran Ladies Aid Thursday, Oct. 4, when they met in the Sunday School Room.

The autumn theme was carried out. In the center of the long table, a bouquet of white chrysanthemums centered with tuberoses and bronze dahlias around the outer circle, were placed in a very attractive hand carved wooden container, with matching candle holders on each side. The candles were orange and black.

To complete the theme a small vase in the form of a turkey held some very colorful sunac leaves with one placed at each end of the long table. Leaves were scattered around the bouquets, and candy corn in dishes made a very pretty table. The hostesses, Mrs. Emil Viebrock and Mrs. Fred Wagner, served the 34 present.

Mrs. Arthur Bethke, and an out-of-town guest, Mrs. H. W. Eding, Glenn, Minn., were visitors. White napkins with one corner arranged like a frame of yellow and silver checked, with the words "Be present at our table, Lord," inscribed in silver, were placed at each plate. Another autumn bouquet of colorful sunac leaves in a lovely vase, was placed on a cloth at the officers table.

After the devotional, which was given by the Rev. Walter Strickert, and the singing of two hymns, the pastor's topic discussion was taken from the "Lutheran Women's Quarterly".

One of Commonest Chores—

Here Are Some Tips on Leaky Faucets to Help Home Owner

If a faucet drips, try repairs in this order: tighten packing nut, replace packing, replace washer, grind the valve seat.

By MR. FIX

The homeowner who has never had to repair a water faucet is a rare find indeed. Faucet fixing is one of the commonest household maintenance chores.

When in need of repair, faucets let it be known with a demanding drip that has been likened to the Chinese water torture. Not only hard on the nerves, it also hits the pocketbook by wasting water—and fuel, in the case of leaking hot-water faucets.

There are three common causes of leaks in ordinary compression-type faucets: (1) deteriorated packing around the top of the stem, or a loose packing nut; (2) worn or defective washers; (3) worn or corroded valve seats.

Taking them in order, here are some corrective measures:

If water leaks out around the faucet stem where it enters the packing nut, try tightening the nut. If the drip continues, shut off the water supply at the main valve in the basement or at any valve between the faucet and the main valve.

Next, loosen the packing nut by turning it counterclockwise with an adjustable wrench. Remove the handle and slip the packing nut off the stem. This exposes packing inside the nut and packing washers around the stem. Examine and replace both if worn or defective.

Water dripping continually out of fault in the washer or valve of faucet in the washer or valve seat. To get at the source of trouble, loosen the packing nut and turn the faucet handle as if to turn on the water. Keep turning until the spindle can be lifted out.

The washer will be found at the lower end of the spindle. If the washer is worn or defective, remove the brass screw which retains it and replace the old washer with a new one. But don't reinstall the spindle assembly without examining the valve seat.

If worn or corroded, the seat will chew up washers in a hurry. Another sign of fault in the valve

Soak Range Parts, Grill To Clean

Cooking-range parts, barbecue grills and fireplace equipment have a way of getting sooty, gummy, sticky and greasy. Cleaning these messy items, for most people, is less fun than, say, an afternoon at the ball park or a party. Although it's unlikely the job ever will be classified as "fun" it can be done a lot easier and quicker when the right technique is used.

Some people will prefer to do the job in three separate operations: first the range parts, then the fireplace equipment and finally the barbecue grill. The quickest and easiest way, however, is to combine all three jobs into one.

A galvanized steel pail will be adequate for cleaning the range-top burners. Fill the pail with a solution of detergent, ammonia and water and soak the greasy burners in it overnight. By morning, the solution will have taken off the bulk of the grease and soot without the need of elbow-grease. A little polishing with a steel-bristled brush or steel wool will burnish the range parts like new.

If the oven broiler is also to be cleaned, use a small steel laundry seat is failure of a new washer to stop the drip.

With faucet spindle removed, look down into the faucet with a flashlight's aid. The rim of the opening at the bottom of the faucet is the valve seat against which the faucet washer presses to shut off the flow. If the seat is rough, it should be made smooth with a faucet seat-dressing tool that is available inexpensively from hardware dealers. Make sure, that the grinding tool fits your faucet.

One type of dressing tool consists of a stem with a cutter at one end, a wheel handle at the other and a spiraled cone in between. The cone is inserted into the body of the faucet and screwed down firmly. Then the tool should be rotated back and forth until the seat is ground smooth.

Be sure to flush small bits of metal out of the faucet before replacing the regular faucet spindle assembly.

Clean Cellar for Winter Living

The basement is the perfect place for those informal winter parties, but no party is so informal that the guests should have to wade through piles of rubbish, boxes of worn-out toys and clothing and miscellaneous garden tools. The first requirement of a good party is an attractive location, free from clutter and debris so before the party season sets in make sure the basement recreation area will pass inspection.

All worn-out appliances, broken-down furniture and outgrown or out-moded clothing should be given to a welfare organization for repair and re-use, or discarded. In addition to making the basement look cluttered, such "junk" is a serious fire hazard.

Any items worth saving should be stored out-of-sight in a fire-safe place.

When the floors of the recreation area are cleared of useless debris, start in cleaning. If everyone in the family lends a hand, the job won't take so long, nor will it be a backbreaker for any one person.

Assemble the work crew and tools in one place. Have plenty of galvanized steel scrub pails and sturdy scrub brushes for every-one. A couple of brooms will whisk away the worst of the dirt. Then hose down the walls and floor and scrub everything. Be careful not to get water into electrical outlets, fuse boxes or switch boxes.

When everything is dry, begin setting up ping pong tables, snack bars and card tables. Even if the basement has not been converted into a lavish recreation room with paneled walls, tiled floors and elaborate decorations, it can still be the center of a lot of family fun and neighborhood parties.

MODERN HOMES for AMERICANS

A MAIN FLOOR recreation room with a barbecue fireplace is a headline feature of this spacious ranch style house. Table space in front of a bay window in the kitchen is another glamorous detail. All rooms are large, yet this house covers 1,621 square feet, with out garage and porches, which figure separately at lower building costs. This is plan 7483AP by Herman H. York, architect, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, N. Y.

Window Screens Require Proper Winter Storage

Improper storage can take more out of a window screen than a whole summer of weather. Ordinary wood-frame screens will last for years with proper care. Before storing them away for the winter, put a coat of paint on the frames to prevent rotting and warping.

When springtime comes, the family will want those screens up in a hurry to take advantage of the fresh-smelling breezes without the accompanying early crop of insects. For this reason, as well as that of prolonging the life of the screen, do the repair work necessary before storing them away.

In addition to paint on the frames, the screens themselves may need mending or patching. If the frame is no longer as sturdy as it once was, make it more rigid with steel "L" braces available at any hardware store.

One essential point in storing screens is a window coding system. Numbered metal tabs, also available at hardware stores, may be tacked onto both screen frame and window frame to make the job of getting the right screen on the right window easier in springtime.

When possible, the screens should be stored in a dry, cool place to prevent rust and rot from taking over.

These few aids not only will make the screens more effective and durable, but will make the job of installing them easier.

Be Sure Your Heating System Is Adequate for the Winter

Your heating system is just as important as your home's mortar-and-wood, and furnishings. Modern heating is more than just being warm! It is healthful, comfortable warmth, produced by a heating system that will do it efficiently, economically and, as automatically as possible.

Many modern heating units are equipped with features that can save many dollars on your fuel bill. The burners are designed to give more heat more quickly—with minimum fuel consumption. Unlike most of your home's structure, a heating unit is made up of many moving parts, hidden parts and parts subject to intense heat and pressure.

They must operate perfectly at all times. The best way to insure trouble-free heating is to look for a manufacturer with a high reputation for dependable equipment. A heating unit is an investment that should last for the life of your home.

Warm air heating systems are the best known and most widely used in new homes today. But the demand for steam or hot water still prevails in a number of sections of our country.

Your local heating contractor can give you excellent advice on the type of heating unit best for your home. He's trained and competent on all heating problems.

He can help you with modernizing plans for conversion units, new heating units and hot water heaters.

Today's heating units are no longer bulky, unsightly, space consuming, dirty or noisy.

They are unusually compact, ideal for both basement or basementless-type homes. The modern boiler units are "pint-sized" compared to furnaces of yesteryear.

They are sleekly styled in colorful cabinets and can be easily installed in your basement, utility room, closet, alcove or similar small space. They provide whisper-silent operation and have large filters to remove dust and dirt.

Whatever your needs — warm air, steam or hot water—perimeter, radiant or conventional radiation . . . by gas-fired, oil-fired or coal-fired units, your heating contractor has just the right heating unit for you . . . and your pocketbook! See him now . . . before cold weather sets in!

Find 'Blue Rocks' Not So Good to Eat

LOS ANGELES — Nine-year-old Jack Lucas brought some tasty-looking blue rocks from home and passed them out to fellow students at Gravois Avenue School.

"They tasted good at first, then sour, then awful," said Jerry O'Nesky, 9, one of 19 children treated at Lincoln Heights Receiving Hospital. The "blue rocks," it turned out, were blue vitriol or copper sulfate that Jack's mother, Mrs. W. A. Lucas, used at home for cleaning out plumbing.

Cow Tries to Jump New Police Cruiser

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio — Hey diddle, diddle, the cat and the fiddle, the cow jumped over the police cruiser—well, she almost did. A Holstein cow wandered away from an east side stockyard here and led police a merry chase. At one point, she was sprawled over the hood of a new police cruiser when she failed to get enough lift in her leap.

Although the cruiser was damaged, the cow was not charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Outside Wall Care Can Save Home, Money

If your home is among the millions of American dwellings that have begun to show their advancing age through the tell-tale condition of their exterior sidewalls, now is a good time to do something about it.

As countless families have discovered in this year of Operation Home Improvement, the nationwide fix-up drive, shabby exteriors can be given new life and beauty at relatively low cost nowadays by application of asbestos-cement siding.

Fall is an ideal season for such a project, building materials dealers explain. The weather generally is favorable and the job can be completed in time for the householder to enjoy a full winter of added comfort and lowered heating cost which weathertight new siding brings as bonus features.

Available in a wide variety of pleasing colors and styles, including a choice of surface treatments, asbestos siding can be installed easily over existing wood surfaces. It also can be applied to stucco exteriors by nailing it to horizontal wood furring strips attached to the studs through the old stucco. On houses where the stucco is in extremely poor condition, however, it is advisable to remove the old material before installing the asbestos siding.

Revising an aging home in this economical way is a solid investment that actually pays for itself over a comparatively short time through savings in maintenance.

Due to the portland cement-asbestos fiber composition of the siding, it is practically everlasting, being incombustible and immune to rust, rot and corrosion. No painting is ever required to

Ray Hatton Observes 45th Year in Films

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Remember Raymond Hatton? Oldtime movie goers will recall him as the comic co-star with Wally Beery in a series of riotous movies. Youngsters know him too, as the sidekick of Johnny Mack Brown, Tim McCoy and Buck Jones in old movies now on TV.

His old and new fans will be happy to know that Ray is still going strong and celebrating his 45th year in movies.

Forty-five years is a long time to be in any business, but it's an amazing record in a fickle industry like the movies. Year in and year out, Ray has managed to keep active in films. His latest stint was a familiar one—a grizzled buffalo hunter in "Pawnee."

I caught up with Hatton at the Masquer's Club, favorite hangout of film veterans. At 64, he is still vigorous. If he gets a little hazy about dates and titles, that's understandable.

"I wish I had kept a list of all the pictures I've been in," he reflected. "There have been hundreds of them. Some people ask me about a picture I made years ago and I can't even remember it."

He does recall that he came to Hollywood in 1911 with a vaudeville act that broke up here. A friend talked him into trying motion pictures, then considered beneath the dignity of most actors.

The two young actors took a streetcar ride to Glendale, where a film company was on location. The director asked Hatton if he could put on a beard. Hatton said yes. So he donned crepe hair and a white night shirt with a rope around the middle and played a Russian peasant storming a castle.

Thereafter he played with Mary Pickford, Mack Sennett and other Biograph stars.

He joined the Lasky company and began a long association with Cecil B. DeMille, playing in all of the director's films over a 12-year period. He played in numerous films with Wally Reid, whom he calls "the greatest star of them all."

Lightning Action
SANDPOINT, Idaho (AP)—It will take some time for Mr. and Mrs. Max Pierce to get over the lightning storm which struck their house as they were watching television.

No one was hurt, but a bolt hit their electric fence, traveled around the house, peeled the bark from four trees, set fire to a sofa in the yard, blew out the light bulbs and burned out the freezer and the electric roaster.

The Pierces' only consolation: the TV wasn't hurt.

Best Way to Make Money Is to Improve Something

NEW YORK (AP)—The quickest way to wealth is to improve some simple object millions of people buy or use every day.

Example: The man who first thought of putting a crinkle in the old-fashioned wire hairpin — so it would stay in better — made a million dollars.

"When you think of the hundreds of millions of human beings who lived and died trying to have an original idea, it seems odd that none thought of improving the ordinary comb, isn't it?" asked Eric L. H. Cosby.

"But no one really had a new idea in combs for at least 6,000 years."

No one, that is, until Cosby bent his brow to the task.

Cosby is managing director of Kent, Inc., a firm whose fine brushes have served the crowned heads of Europe since 1777, when George III was trying to give his American colonies a quick military brushoff.

An inventor since boyhood, Cosby became interested in combs during a visit to the British Museum. He noted that combs found in ancient Egyptian pyramids varied hardly at all from combs in present day use. Although the human skull — even among teenagers with crew cuts — is ordinarily rounded, the combs appeared designed for flat-heads.

"Why should they be?" Cosby brooded.

So he designed a new type comb. It is a flexible comb, fitted into a plastic shell, and bends to fit the scalp a gentle massage.

"With each stroke it covers five times the area of the old-type comb," said Cosby, "and it gives the scalp a gentle massage."

"It is particularly helpful to men with thinning hair as it glides over the bald spot without scratching. Balding men are physically as well as emotionally sensitive."

"It's the only comb in the world with false teeth," said a loyal conferee of Cosby.

A look of gentle pain spread over Cosby's fine British face, and he murmured in rebuttal: "I wouldn't really call them false teeth, old boy. But when the teeth wear out, you can buy a refill set to fit into the plastic shell."

Cosby is full of quaint tidbits of comb lore.

"Cavemen used rude combs made from animal horns," he said. "Cleopatra's comb came an elephant tusk. Queen Victoria preferred an ivory comb, too. But ivory is going out. Central heating is hard on it."

At 14 Cosby invented a nonskid hard rubber auto tire, but some body outran him to the patent office. His biggest coup, however, was the development of a brush that dripped perfume into the hair. He's sold a million of them.

His firm markets a lady's brush of wild Siberian bear's hair set in satinwood that carries a $750 price tag, a man's shaving brush of badger hair — get your wife to give you one for Christmas — that goes for a piddling $500. But his new comb is priced at a buck.

"Until now we've catered only to the carriage trade," he said. "But now we're after Mrs. Shopping Basket."

Cosby has a free beauty tip for American women. Use more water, fewer glamor skin creams, on their faces.

Amateurs Are Best Actors For TV Show

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—"We've got to keep this program moving," said the Duke of Windsor. "We mustn't be in the position of staying in the same place for 11 minutes."

His remark was addressed to John Aaron and Jesse Zousmer, coproducers of "Person to Person" (CBS-TV), before he and his Duchess appeared recently on Ed Murrow's weekly program of Friday evening home interviews.

The Duke's sense of showmanship surprised neither Aaron nor Zousmer, they said the other day. For in their and Murrow's opinion, amateurs usually make the best actors on "Person to Person."

"Forget the camera," Aaron and Zousmer warn their subjects in a brief warm-up before air time of each show. "Just move around and act naturally. We'll follow you with the cameras."

The cameras of "Person to Person" poke around the homes of a great diversity of persons while Murrow, seated in New York, questions them about their personal lives and interests.

The possibility of human error in a program is naturally irresistible to a human audience. Thus, "Person to Person" has had its interesting moments of human boob. Mrs. Pat Weaver lost a zipper on the program — and made newspaper front pages. Ava Gardner had a door refuse to open for her. Sid Caesar had a moose-head fall off the wall of his den.

As far as Aaron and Zousmer can determine, there is no "favorite" type of guest for "Person to Person."

"It seems," they say, "that people simply find people interesting."

Interesting coming television events (all times eastern daylight):

Sunday, 9 p.m., ABC-TV—"Omnibus" presents Bert Lahr in George Bernard Shaw's "And the Winner Is the Lion."

Monday, 8 p.m., NBC-TV—"Producers' Showcase" presents Siobhan McKenna and Michael Rennie in Somerset Maugham's "The Letter."

Tuesday, 8 p.m., NBC-TV—"Project 20" presents "The Great War," a documentary on World War I.

Home Agents Help On New Farm Building

Mrs. Viola Smith, home agent and John Terwilliger, associate agent, helped Mr. and Mrs. Albert Enowski with their plans for their new home. They plan to start building this fall. The new home will be located to fit in with the present building to form a service court driveway.

The kitchen was arranged in a U-shaped design with a snack bar and breakfast nook. The new home will have a full basement, three bedrooms, dining room, living room, kitchen and a utility room or porch will be added at a later date.

The Enowski's built a Grade "A" milking parlor in 1951 and a hen house this year. Help in planning farmstead arrangements is a service which is available through the Monticau County Balanced Farming Program.

Eskimos Like Spaghetti

BOSTON (AP)—Eskimos love spaghetti and meat balls, according to Army Sgt. Francis Petrivelli, home on furlough.

While serving near Anchorage, Alaska, Petrivelli became tired of eating reindeer and whale blubber with an Eskimo family.

He cooked up a batch of spaghetti and meat balls, he said, and "they loved it."

ROK WACs Must Become Expert Shots With Carbine

GUN GIRL — A Korean WAC demonstrates proficiency with carbine, a weapon all women soldiers must learn to shoot.

By DON BALDWIN

SEOUL (AP)—If war comes again to South Korea a force of several hundred young women will be ready to shoulder rifles if needed — but in the meantime each woman in uniform is replacing up to six men in behind-the-front jobs.

Members of South Korea's Women's Army Corps also are playing a key role in winning equality for their sex in this land where for centuries women have been second class citizens.

The Korean WAC, now 729 women strong, is organized along lines almost identical with the American WAC, but in Korea each recruit must become an expert shot with a carbine. American WACs may volunteer for a few hours of rifle practice.

While women fought shoulder to shoulder with frontline troops during the Korean war, the emphasis now is on clerical and communications jobs.

A teen-age WAC with a few weeks' training on an American-built Korean languages typewriter releases six male clerks for duty elsewhere. And young women who until recently thought radios were strictly for entertainment are making outstanding communications technicians.

All WAC recruits must be middle school (junior high) graduates, while officer candidates must have graduated from high school.

"Because of our tough educational requirements almost all members of the WAC come from the cities," says Lt. Col. Lenore Price of Los Altos, Calif., American adviser to the WAC. "Farm girls in Korea just don't get that much education."

But Col. Price and Col. Kim Hyun Sook, director of the WAC, are hopeful that the educational requirements, plus snappy new uniforms and better equipment will give Korea's WAC new esprit d' corps.

Korea doesn't offer women a wide choice of opportunities," Col. Price points out, "and the WAC can provide an attractive career."

Until recently Korean WACs wore only unattractive khaki trousers and blouses. But now they're being issued summer uniforms worn by American WACs and new winter uniforms are on the way.

Size-wise the Korean WACs are considerably smaller than their American counterparts. Most wear sizes 8 and 10, while the average American wears 12 or 14.

Women who join the WAC are trained at a small camp not far from U. S. 8th Army Headquarters on the outskirts of Seoul.

The recruits live and work in neat cinder block buildings on a hillside overlooking a big parade ground and athletic field.

The camp is equipped to give groups of 100 women a two-month basic training course but few recruit classes have been full and an intensive recruiting campaign is planned for early autumn.

Women getting specialized training stay on at the camp, as do officer candidates who take a special 16-week course.

"These young women will never again accept inferior status," Col. Price declares, "and they're playing an important part in a revolution which will contribute to the welfare of all Korean women."

Sheep Hideout

KIOWA, Colo. (AP)—These bighorn sheep aren't so dumb.

Rancher Sam Kimsey said a ram and two ewes showed up on his place on Kiowa Creek in rolling, timbered country not usually inhabited by mountain sheep.

If they stay put, they'll be safe during the fall hunting season. Kimsey's ranch is in an area closed to bighorn shooting.

Most Class 1 railways in the U.S. have a dual system of pay to equalize salaries between freight crews and passenger trainmen. Freight crew salaries are based on 100 miles or 8 hours; passenger crews on 150 miles or 7 1/2 hours.

Actress Doesn't Want Pigs On Her Future Farm Home

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Pigs are not open-minded — they're sneaky," said Siobhan McKenna, positively, "and I won't have them on my farm."

"But I love cows. They have such beautiful long eyelashes."

The farm that Miss McKenna, brightest star of the current drama season, spoke of was the one she dreams of owning and retiring to some future day in her native Ireland. After, of course, she achieves another dream — to play Hamlet. No, not Ophelia. Hamlet! And she'll probably get her wish.

Every now and then an actress comes along who can scratch a match in her veins and set your brain and heart aflame. For several weeks young Miss McKenna has been doing just that to audiences in the off-Broadway Phoenix Theater with her electric portrayal of the tomboy saint in Bernard Shaw's "St. Joan."

Critics have acclaimed her the "Greatest Joan of the century," and, indeed, who before her ever played Joan in Gaelic in Dublin . . . in English in London . . . with an Irish accent in Manhattan . . . and planned to do it in French in Paris?

What is Siobhan (pronounced "Shih-vawn") like offstage? Well, she is so busy — almost every day a new Hollywood producer suddenly "discovers" her — that seeing her alone is only slightly less difficult than it would be to arrange a private game of crabgrass billiards with President Eisenhower.

Finally I arranged a luncheon date. It came during a break in a seven-hour rehearsal of an Oct. 15th NBC-TV presentation of Som-

Jay Dorsey this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sammons, Sedalia, were guests of Miss Ella Wilson and Bill Wilson recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Rothrock spent the weekend in the Ozarks.

er set Maugham's "The Letter," in which Miss McKenna portrays a cool-blooded murderess.

Siobhan saves her acting for the floodlights. She showed up wearing a weathered tweed suit and flat-heeled white shoes. She wore no makeup. A cherry-red stocking cap hid the raw-necked GI haircut she had to undergo for her role as Joan.

I noted that she seemed to be 5 feet 5 and 125 pounds of talent held together largely by freckles.

"I'm afraid that no one in the theater except Katie Hepburn has more than I do," she said ruefully. "In Gaelic freckles are called 'little trout,' and Irish girls who have them console themselves by saying they are signs of beauty."

"But as a child I used to try to scrub them off with butter-milk."

Siobhan, daughter of a Galway University mathematics professor, is a graduate mathematician herself and has a sister who is a dentist. As a child she wrote and acted out her own plays in a neighbor's barn. She spent three years with the Abbey Theater in Dublin. She has played everything from Lady Macbeth to Charlie in "Charlie's Aunt."

Her Irish flares up when anyone questions her desire to play Hamlet. After all, didn't Sarah Bernhardt?

"And why shouldn't a woman be Hamlet?" she asked. "He is, like Joan, an extraordinary figure. But Hamlet's problem is intellectual, rather than physical, so who should there be any great shock about having a woman play him?"

As Siobhan talked little thought clouds and laugh crinkles chased each other across her elf-serious face, like ripples on a summer pond. She also has a habit, endearing in women, of absent-mindedly picking up small crumbs from the tablecloth and eating them.

She finds the offers of quick

"Before I do anything else I want to go back to Ireland. I miss my son, Don. He's only eight."

Miss McKenna's husband is Denis O'Dea, of Dublin's Abbey Players.

"You know the country people in Ireland are very honest. They tell you straight out what they think. Instead of telling me how nice I look, they'll say, 'Oh, Siobhan, how you've failed!'"

Miss McKenna's green eyes glowed as she talked of her future farm.

"Actresses are so foolish with their money," she said. "They should save it and buy a little farm they can retire to and live comfortably."
